1. Usually, it takes a while between the time some record company sees a band to the time they finally sign them. And, then it's a while longer before they record. But that's not the way it went for this next band. These guys are fast workers and still are today, along with their producer, Mike Wagner. Singer MATT KRAMER told us the story:

MATT KRAMER/SAIGON KICK ACTUALITY: (:53) "Atlantic came and saw us about three times, then Third Stone got involved... it came to, you know, are they gonna sign us or not? Then it was the big one where everybody came down, Mike Wagner came down... Michael was in between projects, I think he just got there with Jana Jackson and he was on his way to do Skid Row and he had no plans doing this record with us. And they flew him in, they said just see the band. He saw the band, three days later, we were signed and recording a record. That's it. We had eleven days and about two weeks mixing time and he says ' I can do it, and you guys can definitely do it, you guys play great" and, I didn't think we could do it. We worked it out, eleven days, I don't know how, but it worked out great!"

2. Unless they're real superstars able to afford jet planes to take 'em around, most acts tour in big buses. And, it's a known fact in the music business that probably no one spends more time on the road than Country acts -- sometimes ten months out of a year. And, they've all got a lot of ROAD STORIES. This next country band told us one of their favorites! Listened to what happened to the bass player in Restless Heart.

RESTLESS HEART ACTUALITY: (1:03) "It wasn't long ago we were going to Alabama, stop at a grocery store, went in and got some ice and some drinks and stuff, it was late at night, got back on the bus, we were travelin' down the road... gee, probably forty five minutes later, our sound man came up to the front of the bus and said 'is Paul up here?' And, we said no... he's in back... and he said an-ah! I said oh, maybe he's in bed! Looked in all the bunks, went up front and we said... Paul... is at the grocery store! Another forty five minutes back and there he is... sitting down... Ha ha ha, on the curb! Not a happy boy! We all line up to get off the bus and just blew right by him! And he called us every name in book, that we cannot repeat! We just all piled right on the bus and blew right into Kroeger, right by him! We forgot the chips man! Ha ha ha."
