

EPISODE #079

"SO LONG. FAREWELL. AUF WIEDERSEHEN. GOODBYE!!

At the Peach Pit, Brandon and Nat are sweating through work, without air conditioning. Steve pops in to announce he's been accepted to California University, but what is even more exciting is that he's house-sitting a house at Malibu. Steve and Brandon drive out to see the house. Brandon asks if they can have a going-away party for Brenda here.

Next day they start preparing for the party. Celeste has arrived to join Steve in setting up decorations. Donna and Andrea bring bags of food. They've finished being camp counselors, for the summer. David is telling everybody how difficult it is to find a reasonable apartment near the college campus.

Brenda arrives, having just finished the last day of her summer job at the Beach Club.

The party is in full swing. Jim and Cindy Walsh have arrived. Donna says she and Kelly have won the school lottery for a room in the campus dorm. Brandon announces plans to convert Brenda's room into an apartment for himself. Andrea will be continuing to live with her grandmother, Rose, in Beverly Hills. As the party ends, Brenda asks her parents if they mind that she spends this last night in California at the beach house. The party comes to life again, with more guests arriving.

Brenda shrugs off Tony Miller's romantic overtures. Kelly calls from her car phone saying she just got back from Europe but can't find a place to park.

Everyone gathers around Kelly to hear the details of her summer in Europe with Dylan. "And where is Dylan?" someone asks. Kelly says he's gone on to Greece but she wanted to come home. The sound of breaking glass comes from the kitchen. Steve hopes it's nothing valuable, as the party gets wilder.

It's dawn, and several bodies are draped over the furniture. The whole house is a mess. Brandon joins Brenda outside. She has to go to the airport to catch her plane to Minneapolis. Brandon and Brenda stop by the Peach Pit to say goodbye to Nat and sample the new menu item, "Laverne's Honey Pie." Brenda and Cindy leave for the airport.

Brandon arrives back at the beach house to find that no progress has been made to clean up the party mess. Some of the group decide to go get some breakfast. David asks Kelly to help him find a place to live near campus that he can afford.

Andrea walks up the beach to visit Gil Meyers. She feels a little guilty about not attending Yale after Gil had worked so hard to get her accepted. She explains her reasons for staying in California, but still senses that he is disappointed.

In Minneapolis, Grandma Beevis, along with twelve year old cousin Lindsay, have picked up Cindy and Brenda at the airport. They drive directly to the University of Minnesota so Brenda can register. Brenda is feeling tense and a bit homesick already. The young cousin, Lindsay, keeps asking questions about Beverly Hills and that keeps reminding Brenda of her friends she's left behind.

Brenda sees Darla, her long time friend from childhood. They are to be roommates in the college dorm. Cindy and the others join them to go up and see their room. The room they have to share is very small, with very little closet space. Brenda begins to wonder if this is all a big mistake.

At the beach house "fun and games" are the order of the day. After a fast game of volleyball, Brandon heads into the house. Suddenly, he's confronted in the kitchen by a crazed young woman who aims a can of mace at him, shouting at the top of her lungs.

f

Brandon has been backed into a corner by the "crazed" woman, as Steve and Celeste come rushing inside. Steve and the "crazed" woman recognize each other. She is Jill, the daughter of the movie producer who owns the beach house. She and Steve have known each other for years, but she didn't know her parents were out of town. Everybody calms down, as Jill explains she had wanted to pay a surprise visit to her father and thought Brandon was burglar.

Brenda has gotten together with some of her other old friends who are attending the University. They all treat her like an outsider, and have preconceived ideas of what Brenda's California friends must be like. Brenda loses her cool and tells them off.

Kelly and Donna are helping David find a place to live. Kelly thinks he ought to rent a beach place, but David knows he can't afford to do that. Kelly suggests she move to the beach and let David share the dorm room with Donna. "Why don't you move in with Dylan when he gets back?" asks Donna. Kelly confesses that she left Dylan in Europe after they'd had a fight. He'd been turned down by California Berkeley, and he became very depressed, she adds.

At the beach house, Steve and Jill are hitting it off very well and enjoying each other's company. Celeste is beginning to feel left out, as they relive their past relationship. Celeste gets jealous and storms out followed by Steve who tries to apologize.

Kelly has found a two bedroom apartment at Venice Beach, which she thinks will be just right for David. David can't believe it when she tells the landlord she'll take it. One room for David and one room for her and Donna. David wonders if Donna's mother will approve of this new arrangement.

Brandon tells Steve to be careful he doesn't lose Celeste. It would be a pity to "put all his chips" on Jill, who's only going to be in town for a week.

Andrea goes back up the beach to visit Gil Meyers with intentions other than apologies this time. She becomes very emotional and begins to show more than student/teacher interest in Gil. Her hopes are shattered when he introduces his fiance.

In Minneapolis, Brenda and Cindy, with Grandma Beevis, arrive at Brenda's childhood home. They were in hopes of seeing what the new owners had done with the interior, but found no one at home. As they glance around the yard, Brenda begins to feel a touch of home sickness for California.

Steve talks to Jill while she sun bathes. She surprises Steve by asking about Brandon. He realizes her interest in Brandon is more than casual.

At the Peach Pit, Donna tells David and Kelly that her mother agreed to let her live off campus. She confesses that she didn't tell her mother that David would be living there too.

While Brenda is out of the dormitory with her friend Darla, a phone call comes from Europe. After a number of rings, we see a disappointed Dylan hang up the phone.

"GIRL FROM NEW YORK CITY"

Brandon and Jill Flemming are in a heavy tennis match against Steve and Celeste. It has become a highly competitive match between Steve and Brandon, with Steve finally winning.

In Brenda's empty bedroom, Cindy and Jim reminisce about their children's childhood and how quickly they have grown up. Cindy gets misty-eyed and moves close into Jim's comforting arms.

In her campus dormitory room, Brenda is writing a letter to them, trying to sound cheerful, but it is a struggle. Outside the weather has turned cold and rainy. Brenda stares at her "California Dreaming" poster on the wall and sighs. Her roommate, Darla, comes in and tells Brenda she may want to use their room privately tonight with her boyfriend. "If there's a red tassel on the door knob, please don't barge in," she says.

At the beach house, Steve and Brandon discuss Jill. Steve can't believe Brandon hasn't slept with her yet. At their new apartment, Kelly and Donna are involved in an unaccustomed chore of cleaning the kitchen and bathroom. Donna's mother, Felice, is directing David in the living room, in how to place the furniture. Felice still doesn't know that David will be living there too.

Jill and Brandon discuss her returning to New York in a few days. They both like each other, but Brandon can't seem to carry their relationship beyond a casual kiss. Dylan arrives back in town and shows up at the beach house. Steve and Brandon invite him to hang out with them but he says he has a couple of months of mail to sort through, at his house in town. He seems surprised when they tell him Kelly said she had a great time in Europe. Dylan says he is sorry he missed seeing Brenda before she left for college in Minnesota.

We see Brenda, sitting outside her dormitory room waiting impatiently for her roommate Darla and her boyfriend to give the "all clear" signal. Another highly competitive tennis match is in progress. This time Brandon and Jill are winning.

At the Peach Pit, Andrea demonstrates to Nat her new skill in using a hypodermic syringe, with an orange. She has to start giving her grandmother daily shots of insulin for diabetes. Nat says he almost got into medicine but he couldn't stand the sight of blood. Dylan drops by to say hello. Andrea tells him Kelly, Donna and David have a beach apartment. He mentions that he was turned down by California-Berkeley.

Outside Kelly and Donna are driving into the Peach Pit parking lot, when suddenly Kelly sees Dylan's Porsche. Kelly doesn't want to see him after what happened in Europe. She begins to tell Donna why she and Dylan had a big fight in France. She got bored and went back to Paris to shop. When she returned in a few days, Dylan had apparently begun a relationship with a beautiful French girl. An argument followed and to get back at Dylan, Kelly says she dated the cute bartender at the hotel.

Returning from classes, Brenda again finds she can't get into her room, because Darla and her boyfriend are there. Later, Brenda tries to call Kelly and Donna at their apartment, but gets a recording.

The tennis match ends with Brandon and Jill winning and Steve has great difficulty accepting defeat gracefully. The ongrly mood also strains the Brandon/Jill relationship, but she apologizes to him. Steve cools down and offers to treat everybody to lunch.

Brenda tells Darla she's not in the mood for the party downstairs. She asks Darla to "entertain" her boyfriend in his room, for a change. Donna tries to talk Kelly into calling Dylan but Kelly is hesitant. She's not sure Dylan will want to talk to her. She tells Donna about how she dated the French bartender and then told Dylan that Gaston was a great lover. They fought and Kelly stormed out and returned home.

Brandon and Jill have a glass of wine and discuss their feelings for each other. Jill confesses that she was raped in New York, at knifepoint, about six months ago. She's been having difficulty adjusting to that traumatic experience. Now, for the first time in many months she feels comfortable being close to a man. Brandon holds her close and gently kisses her.

Andrea goes to see her grandmother's doctor to make sure she knows how to give the insulin shots correctly. The woman doctor tries to talk Andrea into studying for the medical profession.

Donna is returning home to her apartment after having had a final dinner with her parents. Donna's mother decides to come up for a few minutes. Kelly tells David to hide in the bathroom. It would be difficult to explain his being at the girl's apartment at one in the morning. Later, David shows up in Donna's bedroom hoping she'll agree to a new and exciting sleeping arrangement, but Donna turns him down.

It's morning and Brandon and Jill are waking up, having slept in each other's arms. Jill has to return to New York, but invites Brandon to come and visit her. When Brenda finds Darla and her boyfriend in the room again, she barges in anyway. Brenda goes to the closet to get her suitcase. She begins to pack up her things over the protest of Darla.

Kelly finally works up the courage to go to see Dylan. She confesses to him that she did not sleep with Gaston. He tells her that he did not sleep with Brigitte, either. They move into each other's arms and kiss. David has installed a new hi-fi system and the gang drops by for a party. Back in Minnesota, Brenda hails a taxi and, with her bags, heads for the airport and back home to Los Angeles.

EPISODE #081

"LMLE FISH"

Brenda arrives back in Beverly Hills in the middle of the night, and surprises her family with the announcement she has dropped out of the University of Minnesota.

It's registration day at California University. Long lines have formed in front of registration tables. Scattered about in the crowd are all of the gang, including Dylan. Brandon tells Andrea that Brenda is back in town and the word spreads quickly.

Andrea tries to persuade him to join her in applying for the college newspaper staff, but Brandon says he has too many other problems at the moment. Dylan gets disgusted because several of the classes he selected are already filled. He tells Kelly he's changed his mind about registering. David is impatient to get through the lines, so he can apply for a position on the campus radio staff.

Kelly telephones Brenda to ask why she's come home from Minnesota but Brenda tells her she'll have to call her later. Brenda is in a deep discussion with Jim and Cindy regarding her abrupt decision to leave Minnesota. She tells them she is not sure she wants to go to college, at all.

At a freshman student testing class, a number of young people are busy completing a quiz on mathematics. Steve is struggling and glances over to another freshman's test paper for some answers. Brandon whispers it's not for a "grade," just a placement test.

Jim Walsh is surprised to find Dylan waiting at his office. He says he has decided not to go to college and to use his money doing what he really wants to do. Jim suspects he's been talking to Brenda but Dylan is stunned to hear that she is back in town.

Andrea, along with other hopeful freshmen, meets with the college newspaper editor and each is given a writing assignment to be completed by the next day. Andrea realizes she's just a "little fish in a big pond" now.

Brandon tells Steve he's looking for a place to live near campus, now that Brenda is back. Steve suggests pledging a fraternity, but Brandon's not excited about that idea.

David and Donna go to the Campus Radio Station for an interview, but start auditioning for the wrong person.

Brenda tells Kelly, by phone, how embarrassed she is about being home from Minnesota after only two weeks. Donna gets on the phone to say she and David have a chance to have their broadcast demo tape heard. Brenda asks about Dylan and Kelly. Donna says they didn't break up like she thought.

At Dylan's house, Kelly talks excitedly to him about enrolling at college. Dylan says he's not going to enroll. He may just travel some more, he adds. Kelly argues that he should go to school, but Dylan gets angry. Kelly storms out, unable to cope with his attitude.

Brandon tells Brenda it looks like the two of them will have to share the bathroom for awhile longer. Cindy reprimands Brenda for sleeping late, adding that she doesn't feel her daughter gave college a real chance. She should have stuck it out longer than two weeks.

At the Peach Pit, Brenda finds Dylan in a booth having breakfast. They warm to each other immediately. They are both "instant college dropouts," they laugh.

Kelly and Donna drop in to see Andrea's dormitory room, which is spacious and well equipped. A handsome, athletic type, named Dan Rubin, knocks. He is the dorm's Resident Advisor, he says. Andrea offers him one of the croissants that Donna brought, and is visibly impressed with the guy.

Steve convinces Brandon he should at least attend the Kappa Epsilon Gamma open house. He may change his mind about pledging a fraternity, Steve add Donna tells David she'll take their broadcast audition tape to the campus radio station for him, since he has several school errands to do. Kelly tells Donna she is still hoping Dylan will change his mind about college.

At the Peach Pit, Dylan has just invited Brenda to spend the day with him, "doing nothing." Brenda is delighted with the idea.

It's been a tense day for Nat with two of his staff out sick. Andrea drops by to do her first "restaurant review" assignment for the campus newspaper. Andrea tries to be fair in her review, but this is obviously the wrong day to come to the Pit.

Donna leaves the audition tape in the glove compartment of her car, parked in the hot sun. The tape is warped and ruined. David tells Donna it was his only copy.

Dylan and Brenda drive up the coast. On the pier, Dylan tells her how exciting Europe was for him. He wants to write about it some day. Brenda mentions how much she liked the historical places in Paris. He says Kelly was only interested in shopping when they were there. They rent a tackle box and try their luck at fishing.

While trying to explain how the audition tape was ruined, David and Donna impress the student Program Director, with their "Stiller and Meara" routine.

Brandon is surprised that Andrea has done such a "hatchet job" on the Peach Pit. She explains that she is desperate to get on the newspaper staff and she's written what she feels the editor will want to read. Both she and Brandon agree they're stressed out being thrown into this new collegiate environment.

At the KEG fraternity, an elite group including Steve and Brandon, are being addressed by an officer of the fraternity. Dixon, a member, talks to Steve and Brandon about intra-mural sport~ and their skills. The charities which the group supports are also mentioned. Brandon is becoming very impressed.

While attempting to bait their fishing hooks, Dylan and Brenda share a closeness they both have missed.

Andrea tells the college newspaper editor she is not sure she has the "killer instinct" to be on the paper. He advises her, if she wants to succeed in journalism she'd better be on the newspaper staff. Andrea walks away saying, "there is always premed."

Steve is told by his faculty advisor, that his math placement score was so high that they recommend he concentrate on astro-physics. Realizing that the answers he copied, were from an obviously brilliant student who sat near him for the test, Steve tries to conceal his panic. He suggests that maybe he should "expand his knowledge in all directions" by taking other electives such as "film history or folklore." The counselor agrees and is impressed with Steve's adult attitude.

Dylan and Brenda end their day together philosophizing about life and deciding that a college education is right for them after all. Donna and David rush home to tell Kelly that they've gotten on the campus radio staff -

Brandon is asked by the college newspaper editor, Ken Richland, to run for the student senate. Ken has heard about Brandon organizing the student protest at West Beverly. Dylan stops by the beach apartment to tell Kelly he's decided to register for college.

He's been with Brenda all day but they're just good friends, he adds. Brenda surprises her parents by announcing she's going to enroll in college at California University. Jim and Cindy are obviously elated to hear the news.

EPISODE #082

"GREEK TO ME"

Now on the staff of the campus radio station, David and Donna man the graveyard shift. It's not as glamorous as they'd hoped and very few students call in at that hour, except their friends, Brenda, Brandon, Andrea, Kelly and Steve.

It is rush week on campus. Along fraternity row, the guys are watching and cheering the most outstanding sorority prospects as they pass by on the way to visit various houses. Kelly, Brenda, Donna and Andrea are among the many hopefuls who visit the sororities. At nearby KEG fraternity, Brandon and Steve are playing tag football with some of the frat guys. This is the group Steve wants to join, and he has persuaded Brandon to come along. One of the frat members is John Sears, a BMOC. They are impressed with Brandon and Steve's athletic skills.

Brandon has to leave because he has a meeting at the student union with Ken Richland. Ken and his friends are interested in having Brandon run for the office of freshman student senator. The committee has heard of Brandon's leadership of students, against the school board at West Beverly.

Back at the dorm, Andrea runs into Dan Rubin. He is surprised to hear she is involved in rush week and adds, that being Jewish, she should concentrate her efforts toward a Jewish sorority. Andrea tells him he is wrong and she will not be pigeon-holed by such narrow thinking.

At Alpha Omega, the four girls are greeted warmly. Their reputations as camp counselor, valedictorian, beauty queen and involvement in school charities, makes them good material for pledging. The girls are excited, except for Kelly. Alpha Omega is the sister sorority to the KEG fraternity. John Sears, a frat guy there, is a former boyfriend of Kelly, during a period when she was rather wild. She fears he might tell everybody, and ruin her reputation on campus.

Brenda runs into Dylan at the campus book store. She says she's been busy watching everyone out-smile each other on sorority row. Dylan tells her he was able to sign up for most of the classes he wanted. They are happy to find they have one class on English poetry together. Brenda has to hurry to meet Kelly, Andrea and Donna at the Peach Pit. They want to open their sorority invitations and find out if they will all be rushed by their first choice, Alpha Omega. They open the letters to whoops of happiness. They've all made it.

As Brandon leaves the student union with Angela and Richland, he waves to Steve and John Sears. Later his new friends make it clear that John Sears is "bad news" for Brandon's political ambitions.

At home, Jim and Cindy are delighted to hear Brandon is going into student politics. Brenda wonders if Brandon's new progressive friends are going to be happy with his fraternity associations.

The long, lonesome hours of late night radio is taking its toll on Donna and David. Steve drops by to talk to Brandon, concerned about John Sears remark about seeing Brandon with the "politicals from the Student Union." Brandon tells him they're backing him in the campaign. Steve hopes Brandon is not going to ruin his chances at KEG fraternity.

At the first Alpha Omega rush party, Andrea hits it off very well with Leslie, a member. Donna, Kelly and Brenda stand out in the group of 'beautiful people.'

At the beach apartment, Donna asks David to turn down his music Hi-Fi, a little. She is too tired to do anything but go to bed. David hints he would like to join her, but her answer is a firm "no."

Kelly phones Dylan to invite him to go to the KEG fraternity party with her, but he says he is not into that "Greek" stuff. Kelly is hesitant to go without a date because John Sears may try to make his moves on her.

At the party, our group stays together in the crowded room. Kelly sees John Sears talking to Leslie and wonders if he is telling her all of their "secret past." Later Leslie says she's impressed that Kelly knows such important people like John. Later, John Sears comes over to talk to Kelly. He is polite and Kelly begins to wonder if she has been unduly suspicious. Donna joins them to say they're leaving but Kelly says she's going to stay awhile longer. Donna is surprised and wonders if Kelly is making a mistake to become involved with John.

Dixon, a frat guy, is shooting pool with Brandon. They hit it off well. Dixon tells him he came to college on a football scholarship but injured his knee. The only friends who stood by him were his KEO buddies. Dixon advises Brandon to think twice before allying himself with the student progressives, headed by Ken Richland.

Andrea continues a warm exchange with Leslie from Alpha Omega, but is puzzled by her comment that Andrea won't find any Jewish guys in KEO.

Brenda, who left the frat party early, finds Dylan at the Peach Pit. They discuss whether it is important to be a member of a sorority. Brenda fears she will lose her friends, Kelly, Donna and Andrea, otherwise. On the late shift at the radio station, Donna throws in a little "talk radio" advice about boys and relationships, to the listeners. David is impressed. '

At the frat house, Kelly is still with John, as they listen to Donna and David on a small radio. As Kelly prepares to leave, John says he'd like to see her again but Kelly reminds him she already has a boyfriend. Kelly stops by Dylan's house but he is not home. When he arrives, she tells him she missed not having him at the party with her.

Steve finds Brandon near the Student Union and asks him if he liked the KEO party. Brandon answers it was nice and he liked Charlie Dixon. Steve says he is sure they both will be asked to pledge the fraternity. As they talk, Ken Richland stops by and is introduced to Steve. Later, Steve implies Ken is not the kind of company Brandon should keep.

Andrea has a serious discussion with Dan Rubin as to whether he feels her being Jewish will prevent her being pledged by Alpha Omega. At a solemn ceremony at the alpha sorority house, Andrea wears a prominent "Star of David" pin, to test their reaction.

At a meeting with Angela, a black activist, and Ken Richland, Brandon begins to feel their priorities are wrong. To ban campus sororities and fraternities certainly should not take precedent over working for longer library hours and additional classes of popular courses. An argument ensues and Brandon says he can't run on the platform they propose. He storms out of the room.

Andrea has a visit from Leslie. She asks why Andrea had to wear the "Star of David" at the ceremony and flaunt her Jewishness. Leslie says she's Jewish too and all the sorority sisters know it, but she doesn't go around shouting about it. Andrea gets angry and says she wants to withdraw her name from consideration for membership.

Donna arrives at the campus radio booth carrying her aunt's poodle. David doesn't feel this is the place for a dog. Donna proceeds with a radio monologue, asking the listening female audience if they feel their dog loves them more than their boyfriend. The phone lights up and David and Donna are delighted to know so many people are tuned in.

As Andrea is sharing her anger and frustration over her sorority experience with Brandon, Leslie shows up. Leslie says it was not the sorority that made her conceal her Jewishness, it was her own choice.

Brandon tells the frat guys at KEG that he's not ready to join a fraternity, but he does believe, contrary to Richland and Angela's feelings, that "Greek" clubs have a right to exist on campus.

Andrea tells the girls she has decided not to join Alpha Omega. Brenda is relieved that she's not the only one of the group who isn't joining. Brenda reminds the others that they will always be close friends and the Peach Pit is their "sorority." The girls lock arms and sing the lyric from "Que sera, sera ... the future's not ours to see ... whatever will be, will be."

EPISODE #083

"RADIO DAZE"

It's the first day of college classes. Donna is trying to pull herself together, after only two hours sleep. Kelly, however, is bouncing around in a great mood. David like Donna, is exhausted from the late hours at the campus radio station.

On campus, students are searching out their class rooms. We see Andrea and Donna surprised to see Dan Rubin, the faculty advisor at Andrea's dorm, is going to be their English teacher.

Kelly, Steve and Brandon walk into a huge lecture hall that compares to a stadium in size, and wonder if, in addition to Sociology, there will be peanuts and hot dogs sold. Dylan and Brenda are pleased to find their Romantic Poetry class is held in a intimate, dignified surrounding.

Later, at the Student Union, Steve is complaining to Brandon that their first day's assignment of two chapters could interfere with his social life. He's on the committee at KEG, for the freshman pool party. Brenda stops by to tell them she is on her way to a store, Fred Segal's to apply for a job. Steve tells Brandon later, he's not too comfortable with both Celeste and Brenda working at the same job. He says he's going to break up with Celeste. Brandon is very surprised, saying he thought they were a perfect match.

At the job interview, Brenda is not sure she will be hired but Celeste says she'll put in a good word for her with the manager. Brenda says she'll see Celeste at the pool party. Celeste answers that Steve hadn't mentioned the party to her.

At home, Brenda is fretting about the difficulty she's having in finding a job. Her father offers her a job at his office but she says she'd rather do this on her own. At Steve's house, he and Celeste are into heavy petting with Steve trying to direct the conversation toward telling her gently, that he feels they should ease off on their relationship and "play the field" for awhile.

At their beach apartment, Donna tries to tell David she can't keep doing the all night job at the radio station, and her school work. David gets angry and says if she quits, they may not want him as a single.

John Sears shows up with a bouquet of flowers for Kelly. She reminds him that she has a boyfriend. He answers that he doesn't get discouraged easily.

Donna confides in Andrea about wanting to quit the late night radio show. Dan Rubin drops in for a few minutes. Later, Donna comments that Andrea likes him. Andrea denies it, but not too convincingly.

John Sears spots Kelly waiting alone, for Dylan. She is flattered when he says he would never keep such a beautiful girl waiting. When Dylan arrives he is excited about attending a lecture by the author of the biography of Kerouac. Kelly, instead, wants him to go to the pool party with her. An argument ensues and Kelly says she will go to the party with Donna and David.

Donna goes to see McDermott about resigning from the late night radio job, but finds him preoccupied with serious problems. The afternoon radio announcer didn't show up and Donna is ushered into the booth, to cover.

Steve confesses to Brandon he didn't get around to breaking up with Celeste and he also invited her to the freshman pool party. Brenda goes on a job interview with a television production company. She has high hopes that it may lead to the exciting world of show business. Her hopes are soon dashed when she finds the job is "production assistant" in charge of the "employee day-care center."

At the end of her radio announcer shift, McDermott dashes in to tell Donna he wants her to take over the job. She was terrific, he adds. She says David will love working days, but McDermott quickly answers that he is only hiring her. He still needs David on the late night shift.

Brenda asks her father if his offer of a job in his office is still open. He says she's hired and hands her some important contracts to be delivered by 9 p.m. tonight. Brenda smiles and says she'll have time to drop by the pool party on campus first.

The pool party is in full swing. Steve is in a fast game of water volleyball with Leslie, and Brandon is flipping burgers on a grill. As Celeste arrives, Steve has just scored a difficult point and Leslie throws her arms around him in a passionate embrace.

Two girls are complimenting Donna on the afternoon radio show. They say they loved the series of freshman student experiences and about her boyfriend that she has to clean up after. David stands with mouth agape. He knows nothing of Donna's new radio show. He is angry and hurt that they won't be working as a team any longer.

Dylan arrived looking for Kelly but finds her sharing a warm moment with John Sears. Kelly sees him approaching and rushes to greet him. She introduces John but Dylan is coolly indifferent. As a fraternity pledge, Steve feels he must mingle with his frat guys but this makes Celeste feel rather left out.

Brenda arrives and, seeing David alone, asks him to be her partner in the dance contest. He is feeling very depressed because of his argument with Donna but he agrees to join her.

Leslie grabs Steve and coaxes him to be her dance partner. Steve hesitates. He is tempted but doesn't want to hurt Celeste. Suddenly, Celeste explodes saying, "Go ahead, Steve . . . I'm leaving anyway." He catches her at the parking lot but she won't listen, and speeds away.

Brenda and David win the dance contest and at that moment the crowd goes wild as one after another is pushed, fully clothed, into the pool. The party winds down as David apologizes to Donna for his childish resentment about her new radio job. Suddenly Brenda panics, she forgot about the envelope she was to deliver by 9 p.m.

Back at the Walsh house, Steve confesses to Brandon that he really loves Celeste. He asks advice on what to do next. Brenda arrives home, distraught that she has failed on her first job assignment. Jim Walsh is angry but she begs for a second chance and finally he gives in to her pleas.

Donna goes with David to his late night radio show to keep him company for awhile. McDermott shows up and embarrassingly tells Donna he won't need her after all on the afternoon show. His girlfriend, Sally, has decided to come back to work. Donna manages a brave smile.

Andrea is proud when Dan Rubin reads her essay before the whole class, but a little hurt when he begins to criticize it. He then has Donna read her essay, in front of the class. Her work is well received, for its warmth and informality.

Steve stops by the store where Celeste works. He is not sure how she will react, but he wants deeply to apologize to her for his attitude at the pool party. Celeste is hesitant, not wanting to be hurt again, but she accepts his apology and they join in a warm embrace.

Andrea confronts Dan Rubin about his criticism of her essay. He reminds her that the assignment was for an essay that gave an insight of the student's personality. He feels Andrea has not learned how to come out from behind her "intellectual mask." He invites her to have dinner with him.

John Sears' persistence finally wins Kelly over. On the balcony of the beach apartment, they exchange a warm kiss.

EPISODE #084

"STRANGERS IN THE NIGHT"

It's early morning Beverly Hills, with traffic streaming to work. Dylan gazes up at his Porsche on the hydraulic rack, awaiting the mechanic's verdict. His diagnosis is, "the car is getting old and should be handled more carefully."

At the beach apartment, Kelly gets an early call from John Sears. Donna is anxious not to be late for class and is irritated with this delay. David says he's too exhausted to go to class. The radio job is taking its toll on him.

Brenda is working at her father's office when Dylan rushes in to see Jim Walsh. Since he seems in a hurry Jim sees Dylan before his regular appointment with a client named Lawrence Carson. Dylan wants to buy a new "transportation" car and wants to be sure his check will be covered.

Jim meets with Lawrence Carson. Carson recognizes Dylan, as Jack McKay's son, and says he hopes he doesn't follow in his father's footsteps.

Over a game of ping-pong, Steve tells Brandon he has a frat meeting today. Donna mentions that she and Kelly get their sorority "pledge assignments" today. Brandon comments that it all sounds like "gobs" of fun.

As the others leave, Brandon spots Andrea and asks her to get a bite to eat with him, but she says she's meeting Dan Rubin. Suddenly Brandon feels very lonely. In a quiet corner of the student union, Andrea and Dan are obviously enjoying each other's company. Dan asks what she would say if he kissed her. Andrea suggests that this is not the proper place, perhaps the dormitory would be more suitable.

At the Alpha Omega sorority house, pledge assignments are handed out to Donna and Kelly. They will package up used clothing and deliver it to a charity. At the dorm, Andrea and Dan are going hot and heavy until she insists on telling him she's still a virgin. He pulls back, saying that losing her virginity is a special thing and maybe they should hold off for now. Andrea is very confused by his reaction.

Brenda arrives home exhausted from a very full day, starting with the job at her father's office, then classes, then studying. She says she'll probably never meet a suitable guy again. Jim suggests he arrange for a date with Larry Carson's twenty four year old son, Stuart. Reluctantly, Brenda agrees but wonders if he will be some sort of geek.

Andrea knocks at Dan Rubin's door and says she can't get him out of her mind. He invites her inside. Kelly is waiting on the sorority house porch surrounded by bags of used clothes. She is surprised to see John Sears drive up in the KEG fraternity van. John asks her if she is upset that he came. Kelly says she only wishes her life were less complicated.

Andrea is completing her morning shower, when Brandon unexpectedly arrives with coffee and doughnuts. She invites him inside and finishes drying her hair. Brandon notices she seems to be in a sort of reverie. She wonders if her sexual experience with Dan is evident to anyone. She almost tells Brandon but then decides against it.

David still is in bed and in spite of Donna's coaxing, he finds it impossible to schedule his life around the late night radio job.

Dylan is flipping through several auto magazines as Steve, Brandon and Kelly make suggestions about what car he should buy. Across the room, Donna tells Brenda what a couch potato David has become. Brenda says Donna is lucky to have someone. All she has is a blind date with a guy name Stuart.

In Dan Rubin's class, Andrea feels a little self conscious but then tries to bury her feelings in the classroom work.

Brandon, Steve and Kelly make the rounds of the pricey auto dealers with Dylan. It's a tense moment at the Walsh house as Brenda and everyone wait for Stuart Carson, her blind date, to arrive. Will Stuart be "Quasimodo" they wonder. Their fears are put to rest when a very handsome, polite and sophisticated Stuart arrives. Brenda is overwhelmed as they drive away in his Mercedes. As Brandon is closing the front door, he sees Dylan drive up in a brand new Porsche 911 Turbo. Dylan says he just couldn't resist it. Jim Walsh is astounded at the price tag and confronts Dylan about wasting his money. Dylan gets angry and rushes off down the street in his new "toy."

At a very elegant restaurant, Stuart orders Dom Perignon and Brenda tries to act as if this were the sort of place she had been to many times. Kelly and Donna decide to lay down a set of strict house rules for David. From now on, he'll have to clean up any mess he makes, they say.

During their superb dinner Brenda tells Stuart that her ex-boyfriend didn't take her to restaurants like this and they didn't have wine because he was a recovering alcoholic. After dinner, it's on to a night club in Beverly Hills where Stuart seems to know everyone and Brenda is delighted with his dancing skill.

John calls Kelly and asks if she would like to go out with him but she says she has to study. Andrea is in Dan's room at the dormitory. After some heavy petting, she asks if he feels this relationship is right. She isn't comfortable having her English teacher as her lover, she says. He grins and suggests she change to a different teacher.

Kelly is still in a friendly phone conversation with John, when the door bell rings. It's Dylan and he needs company. He feels a bit guilty about buying his expensive car, and wants someone to talk to. Kelly agrees to go for a ride with him and then remembers that John is holding on the line in the bedroom. As she hangs up the phone and joins Dylan she begins to wonder where her real affection lies.

Over her feeble protests that it's getting late and she has school tomorrow, Stuart escorts Brenda out on the dance floor for a slow romantic dance. David broadcasts a late night message in song to Donna, prefacing it with an apology for his sloppy habits. While the recording plays, one of the other late night employees drops in to say "hello." Bruno suggests David try a few of the tablets he offers, to help him keep awake. They're just caffeine, Bruno says, but if David needs something stronger, let him know.

Brandon bumps into Jim Walsh in the kitchen having a late night snack and obviously a bit concerned that Brenda is still out on her date.

Dylan brings Kelly home after a ride in his new Porsche. He says Jim Walsh is right that he doesn't need this expensive sports car. This car is for picking up girls and he already has one. Kelly declines his invitation to stay overnight at his house. Dylan asks her what's wrong and she answers that their social lives are veering off in different directions. She adds that maybe they should date other people when they want to, but still be friends, of course.

Brenda arrives home. Standing close, she and Stuart kiss warmly and he asks "what she is doing for the rest of her life." Inside, Brenda tells her father, quietly and firmly, that even though she lives at home still, she is not a little girl anymore and can be trusted to make her own decisions. Jim nods in agreement, realizing that she is "all grown up" now.

As Dylan drives his new Porsche down a deserted street he pulls to a stop at a red light. Out of nowhere, a man points a gun at Dylan and orders him out of the car. "You are carjacked, sucker!" he growls.

EPISODE #085

"MOVING TARGETS"

It's 3 a.m., and Brenda is arriving home with Stuart. She rebuffs his wish to come in with her, saying her folks are probably waiting up. He confesses he is in love with her as he picks her up in his arms and twirls her around, ending with a kiss. Inside, Brenda is confronted by Jim and Cindy about the late hours she is keeping. With a smile and a shrug Brenda answers, "its lucky I made it home at all."

Brandon quizzes Brenda about Stuart. She says he's the only man she's ever met who really knows how to romance a girl. The girls are gathered at the Peach Pit for coffee. Brenda arrives late, wearing a new dress she's bought at Fred's, with her first paycheck. She says she hopes Stuart will like it. They are all anxious to hear about him and each adds the latest happenings in her life. Kelly wants to know if anyone got "pinned" or lost her virginity over the weekend. Donna says she is the last of a "dying breed." Andrea doesn't seem anxious to discuss her relationship with Dan, yet.

Brandon and Dylan go to the Police Impound Yard to retrieve his stolen Porsche, but it doesn't seem to be there. Dylan gets into an argument with the police officer on duty about the mix up and Brandon tries to calm down things, as Dylan storms away in an angry mood.

Brenda and Stuart enjoy a night on the town, dancing and laughing together. Brenda suggests some nicknames she would like to call him, but she settles for "Stuart. "

Andrea has spent a few hours in bed with Dan, in his room. She says she wants to yell it from the roof tops" about how happy he makes her feel, but Dan cautions against "going public" about their relationship. It could cause a lot of problems with the college, he feels.

Brandon and Steve exit the classroom concerned about tomorrow's test. Brandon offers to share his study notes for an all night cram session, but Steve says they have shortcut study guides available at the frat house.

Dylan stops in to see Jim Walsh about the insurance on his stolen car. The insurance company will probably pay because "if it isn't recovered in twenty four hours, it'll be in a chop shop in pieces." Dylan blames himself for what happened. He should have fought back, he adds.

Dylan goes to a firing range and tries out several models of guns. It seems to vent some of his built up anger.

At the beach apartment, Jackie has pitched in and is ironing some of David's shirts for him. Kelly and Donna arrive home from class and are happy to see Jackie has brought little Erin with her, for a visit.

Brandon stops by to see Professor Randall, his sociology teacher. Noticing a lot of sports memorabilia on the walls of the office, gives Brandon an opportunity to tell him he too follows sports and was sports editor on his high school paper... They hit it off well and when Brandon asks about the upcoming quiz, Randall tells him to be sure to read "Chapter Two."

Andrea is gazing at the bulletin board in the student union, as Dan walks up. Glancing over toward him she smiles but is careful to remember about his wishes to "keep their distance" in public. She can't help but wonder if he is just ashamed to be seen with her, but he assures her that it is only because people might talk. They both realize their relationship can't continue this way.

Brandon and Steve speculate about how they did on the test, as they run into a very worried David. He has a test coming up on "Moby Dick."

Kelly chats briefly with John Sears, then crosses over to where Dylan stands. Dylan is still in an angry mood about his stolen car and tells Kelly that never again is he going to stand helpless, while some punk with a big gun rips him off.

At the Walshes, Brenda says she doesn't have time for dessert because she has to meet Stuart. Her father complains that maybe this relationship is moving too fast, with Stuart. The phone rings and it's Stuart's father, inviting Cindy, Jim and Brenda for Saturday brunch. Brenda is pleased that Stuart's parents approve of their relationship.

Both Steve and Brandon get good grades on the test and Brandon takes some kidding from Steve because Professor Randall has asked him to stop by the office.

Andrea and Dan discuss "going public" with their romance. They want to go out to a movie or to dinner, but in the end decide that it's too risky. They settle for a game of scrabble.

Kelly feeds Erin and cleans her up so she's ready for Mel to pick her up. Jackie hopes she will be gone before Mel arrives but that is not to be. Mel comes early with his new woman friend, Nina. Jackie brings their daughter Erin into the room. Eyeing the shapely and younger Nina, she makes a few catty remarks. After Jackie leaves, Kelly reprimands Mel for bringing his girlfriend with him. David sides with his father and only the best efforts of Donna, cools down the argument.

Dylan picks up Kelly for their date. He takes her to the pistol firing range. Reluctant to fire a gun at first, Kelly finally gives in to Dylan's persuasion. She's frightened as she aims toward the target with a small handgun and turns away, laying the gun aside. Dylan fires away at the target with a heavy automatic. He reminds Kelly he didn't make these new laws of survival. They were "spray painted on the wall" by other people.

Jim and Cindy arrive at the Larry Carson's mansion for brunch. A butler advises them that the Carsons are in the back garden pool. Jim and Cindy feel a bit overdressed for a pool party but Larry and his wife Vivian quickly make them feel at ease. Vivian provides them with swim suits and drinks. Brenda has arrived earlier with Stuart.

At the Peach Pit, Kelly telephons her mother, Jackie. Jackie is feeling a little lonely without Erin, for the whole weekend. It angers her to think Mel probably spends very little time with Erin anyway. He's too busy doing the town with his young girlfriend, she adds. Steve and Brandon wander in and join Andrea and Kelly. Kelly tells them she's very worried about Dylan. He is in an angry mood all the time and spends a lot of time at the pistol firing range. Brandon reminds Kelly that a great number of respectable citizens own hand guns. The sad fact is that many people feel insecure in today's cities.

Kelly still expresses deep concerns about Dylan. Brandon says he'll talk to him. At the Carsons, the brunch is going well. As Jim had expected, Larry Carson takes him aside to discuss business. Stuart and Brenda excuse themselves and go inside to the game room.

Brandon arrives for his Saturday meeting with professor Randall. He wants Brandon to tutor a very promising basketball player who needs academic help and encouragement. Brandon agrees, although the pay is only ten dollars an hour. He does get good, free game tickets, however.

In the Carson mansion game room, Brenda and Stuart enjoy pinball and end the game with a warm kiss.

Brandon stops by the school gym to find his "student," D'Shawn. He ends up being sucked -into a game of "two on two" basketball, with the young black player. Kelly arrives home at the beach apartment, to find Donna and David assembling a kiddie swing. They are babysitting Erin for Mel. Kelly is angry that Mel did this and she and David argue.

Jim and Cindy are ready to leave the Carsons and wonder where Brenda has gone. Larry finds Stuart and Brenda in his son's bedroom. Brenda has just showered and dressed. Larry tells Stuart the Walshes want Brenda to stay home tonight. Stuart protests, but to no avail.

Andrea decides to bring her relationship with Dan out in the open. In the middle of the crowded student union, she throws her arms around Dan and they kiss passionately, as students and faculty stare.

Carrying a big pizza, Brandon and Steve go by to see Dylan. He's been surfing all day and is in a much more cheerful mood. Brandon confesses that they came because Kelly was worried. Dylan shrugs and says that she's just over reacting, as he discreetly covers a copy of the magazine "Guns and Ammo," with a newspaper.

Dylan goes to a gun shop to purchase his first handgun, but when the owner checks his age on his driver license, he says the law forbids sales of hand guns to minors. The owner, reacting to Dylan's expression of anger and disappointment, tells him that there are ways to get around the law, if he'll come back later.

EPISODE #086

"TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY"

There's an air of excitement at the Walsh home. Cindy and Jim are still in bed, but Grandma Walsh is already down in the kitchen making breakfast. Brandon has gone to the airport to pick up Cindy's parents, Bill and Arlene Beevis. They are arriving from Minnesota to help celebrate Jim and Cindy's twentieth anniversary tonight. Jim presents Cindy with an emerald necklace before they come downstairs. They all hope the in-laws will get along and Brenda pleads with Grandma Georgette Walsh to be on her best behavior, when the Beevis parents arrive.

Stuart comes by to pick up Brenda for some last minute shopping and he impresses the grandparents with his looks and charm.

Brandon drops by the basketball court to join basketball player, D'Shawn for his tutoring session, but finds D'Shawn more interested in shooting basketballs.

Brandon goes to the gym, to wait for D'Shawn, and there meets an attractive graduate student named, Lucinda Nicholson. He helps her spot some weight lifting exercises and she tells him she's working on her doctorate in anthropology. They hit it off very well, but she rebuffs his suggestions that he call her sometime. She adds that she is at the gym every morning at seven, however.

Mel arrives at the beach apartment with Erin. He asks David to stay at his apartment over the weekend with his baby sister. Mel says he has a trip planned to Cabo San Lucas with Nina. He's made arrangements for the regular babysitter to be there too, so it won't be much of a burden for David.

At the campus pool, John Sears joins Kelly, as she is sunning. He invites her to go with him to a pop concert but she says she already has plans to go to the Walsh anniversary party. John suggests he goes with her, but Kelly says it would be awkward, since Dylan will be there too.

Brenda and Stuart are looking at jewelry in a shopping mall window. They chat about who could wear such expensive gems. Stuart asks her to tell him which is her favorite piece of jewelry.

Dylan meets a man at a newsstand who sells illegal hand guns. Dylan picks out a 9 mm. Walther from the collection, the man has in the trunk of his car.

In the backyard, rental tables and chairs are being set up for the Walsh party. An argument between Grandma Arlene and Grandma Walsh quickly develops over furniture placement, but Cindy settles the dispute.

Grandpa Bill tells Jim how comforting it is to know that Cindy is being well provided for, and their marriage is a happy one. Bill asks if he can take a nap for a while and Jim tells him to use their bedroom. Later, Jim mentions to Cindy that her father seemed very tired and he's lying down upstairs.

Dylan tries out his new handgun at the small arms firing range and is pleased with the feel of the weapon.

At the campus Student Union, Andrea introduces Dan Rubin to Brandon. Dan smiles and says according to Andrea, Brandon is just one step from sainthood. They all laugh, as Andrea blushes.

Brandon sees Lucinda having a coffee at the Condor's Nest. He joins her and they chat about themselves. Lucinda asks Brandon how old he is, and when he tells her he is eighteen, she says that it makes her feel ancient to be twenty-seven.

Dylan is cleaning his new gun when Brandon drops by to ask if he can hide his parents' anniversary gift there, until later. Dylan wonders what to give the Walshes, as a present.

Donna asks David which dress she should wear to the party. They are interrupted by a phone call from Mel. He needs David to come early to be with Erin, because the babysitter is going to be late 'arriving.

When Dylan returns to his car in the parking lot, after buying a gift for the Walshes, he is approached by two weird looking guys. Quickly he reaches for his handgun and, as they ask if he has a watch, he levels the gun on them. They move away quickly. Dylan smiles with a new sense of power.

Brenda and Brandon discuss the magic formula that their parents have for a happy married life, when so many marriages they know have lasted only a year or so. They admit their personal track records are certainly not very good. Suddenly, Brandon remembers he has left his gift for his parents over at Dylan's house. He tells Brenda he'll be back in five minutes.

Jim and his mother have a heart to heart talk about how he and his father disagreed about most everything. Grandma Georgette gives him the wedding rings she and her husband exchanged fifty years ago. She says maybe his children will want to use the rings when they get married.

Dylan's door is locked and Brandon, thinking he is away, decides the only thing to do is break in and get his gift. Dylan does not hear the noise until he steps out of the shower. He suspects he has a burglar and with gun in hand, hides in the hallway and waits.

As Brandon eases inside, through the window, Dylan commands the shadowy figure to stop where he is. Brandon calls out and Dylan lowers his gun, heaving a deep sigh of relief that he didn't fire the weapon. They discuss the near tragedy and Dylan agrees to dispose of the gun tomorrow.

Stuart arrives early and goes to Brenda's room to admire her new dress he bought her. Cindy has a warm talk with her father about the ingredients of a full and wonderful life.

Dylan and Kelly arrive for the party at the same time. Dylan tells her that he has finished his infatuation with handguns. Kelly smiles a sigh of relief. David and Donna arrive with baby Erin in tow. They explain to Jackie about Mel's problems and she is not surprised.

As Brandon and Dylan watch Stuart and Brenda cheek to cheek on the dance floor, the two discuss Stuart's reputation. Dylan warns that "they'd better watch out for this guy."

Stuart tells Brenda how lucky she is to have parents who truly love and care for each other. He adds that his parents just have a business relationship. Stuart makes a flattering toast to Jim and Cindy and the crowd applauds.

Apart from the party crowd, Stuart takes Brenda in his arms. Then he asks her to marry him. Brenda is stunned but manages a breathless, "yes!"

Kelly and Andrea have a discussion about men and romance while "repairing their lipstick." Andrea confesses to Kelly that she has had sex with Dan but now she wonders if he is the man of her dreams. She adds, that there 11 aren't any sparks" in their romance.

Jackie suspects that baby Erin has a fever and insists that she take her home. Jackie is angry to hear from David that his father went to Mexico for the weekend.

Cindy and Jim have mixed feelings about Brenda and Stuart's wedding plans, but Grandpa Walsh insists on making the announcement of the engagement to the whole crowd. The girls gather round to admire Brenda's three carat diamond ring, while Dylan eases over to the bar to introduce himself to Stuart. Dylan warns him that Brenda and her family are very special to him and he hopes that Stuart has cleaned up his act since a few years ago.

Brandon feels the urgent need to talk to his sister who is dancing with Stuart. He cuts in and dances, as he confronts her about getting engaged so quickly. He hopes she's not making a mistake, he says. The party ends and Cindy and Jim speculate about Brenda's engagement and if it is really right for her.

EPISODE #087

"OTHERWISE ENGAGED"

Brandon arrives on campus at seven in the morning and dashes eagerly from the parking lot to the gym, to meet Lucinda. She is a little late but soon they're into a heavy exercise routine.

Brenda is awakened by the phone and, as she reaches for it, she admires the diamond ring Stuart has given to her. Stuart is on the line and wants her to meet him for lunch, at a construction site. In the kitchen, Brenda is greeted by Jim and Cindy, who still argue that she should not rush into this marriage. Brenda thanks them for their concern, but shrugs off their counseling, and then she's off to have breakfast with Kelly and Donna.

After their workout together, Lucinda invites Brandon to come to her house for dinner and conversation.

At the Peach Pit, Nat and the girls are admiring Brenda's engagement ring and discussing their own relationships. Kelly says she's "going very slowly," regarding John Sears.

At KEG house, John Sears tells Steve about a wild party he attended and how he's playing the field until Kelly "gets her head together." Steve declines an invite to double-date saying he's being true to Celeste, but John Sears talks him into it.

After signing some papers at Jim Walsh's office, Dylan is asked if he knows anything about Stuart Carson's background. Dylan is reluctant to condemn Stuart, but does say Stuart is no "choir boy." Jim Walsh is even more concerned now, and asks Dylan to try "to talk some sense into Brenda," regarding her marriage plans.

While sitting with her mother and Erin in the park, Jackie tells Kelly she's decided to seek full custody of baby Erin. She doesn't feel Mel is a good influence on the child. Jackie is concerned about what effect a court battle will have on David. Kelly tries to assure her that she and David are good friends.

At their beach apartment, David is served with a subpoena requiring him to give a deposition regarding the custody of Erin.

Brenda arrives at the construction site to meet Stuart for lunch and overhears a loud argument between Stuart and the foreman, regarding shipment of building materials. Brenda is a bit unnerved but Stuart shrugs off the encounter.

In a meeting with his father, David is asked by Mel's lawyer to stand up for his father in the deposition, and not say anything damaging.

Brandon stops by D'Shawn's room to begin a tutoring session but finds the basketball star has little interest in academics. In his frustration, Brandon goes to see Professor Randall but finds him rushing off to a seminar. Brandon tells him that tutoring D'Shawn is a waste of time.

Steve finds his "blind date" in the midst of dance rehearsal. He turns on his charm and Laura warms to him quickly. He too, finds her very attractive.

In a brief conversation, Dylan tells Kelly he feels Brenda is making a bad mistake in planning to marry Stuart, but she suspects Dylan is still carrying the torch for Brenda.

Stuart shares sandwiches with Brenda and explains that sometimes the foreman loses his temper. "He probably doesn't have a very happy homelife," he says. Brenda is impressed with Stuart's insight into the man's difficulties. Brenda mentions that her parents are concerned about their sudden engagement but adds that all that really matters is that they love each other. Later, Stuart takes Brenda to show her the suite he has rented in a posh hotel and says it is "their hideaway from the pressures of the world." Brenda is overwhelmed and looks for a pen and paper saying she wants to practice writing her name, "Brenda Carson." She finds a pen in his brief case but spots a legal document titled, Pre-nuptial Agreement. She is stunned at what she interprets as a lack of trust on Stuart's part. She storms out of the suite filled with hurt and anger.

At home, Brenda confides in Brandon about the pre-nuptial agreement. Brandon wonders if maybe it is best this marriage doesn't take place at all.

Kelly and David have their first argument over the upcoming custody battle. David is torn between his love for his father and his respect for Jackie.

At Lucinda's, Brandon pitches in to help make the dinner. As they begin to eat, Brandon admires the Guatemalan artifacts around the room. Lucinda says her husband collected them. Brandon is surprised to hear she is still married, but Lucinda says she and her husband have "an understanding."

Arriving back at the KEG house with his date Laura, Steve is reminded by his frat brothers that they have extra rooms upstairs. Steve declines the offer, saying that he has a girlfriend.

At an evening of poetry reading, Brenda finds Dylan. He has just completed reading aloud, a poem that has a special meaning to him. He directs his attention to Brenda and invites her for coffee. As their conversation gets around to Brenda's engagement, she gets very tense and tells Dylan everybody seems to be conspiring against her marriage to Stuart. She walks away, leaving Dylan with a feeling of failure and frustration.

As Brandon and Lucinda move into a closer proximity on the couch, the brandy glasses are accidentally tipped over, spilling on a photograph album. As Brandon wipes it dry, he is stunned to see photographs of Professor Randall and Lucinda. Brandon bolts off the couch, as he realizes Professor Randall is her husband.

Brenda arrives home and confronts her parents about their asking Dylan to try to convince her to call off the wedding to Stuart. She says she can no longer trust them and she is moving out of the house.

The Walshes hear from Stuart's father about the fight that the engaged couple had at the hotel.

Brenda goes to the Stuart's hotel suite, sitting alone she re-reads the pre-nuptial agreement and ponders its meaning for her. It's the morning after Steve's blind date with Laura. He's feeling very guilty for two-timing Celeste and gives her a phone call just to say he misses her.

At the deposition in the lawyer's office, David is forced to testify about his father's affairs and the affect on his own mother's life. Mel brings up Jackie's former cocaine addiction and it all points toward a vicious custody battle for young Erin.

Brandon is surprised when Professor Randall invites him to have dinner with him and Lucinda, saying his wife is very fond of Brandon.

David arrives back at the beach apartment in a terrible mood. When Kelly offers him some of Jackie's casserole for dinner, he answers that he'd rather starve than eat anything she sent over. He relates how his father now feels David has sold him out. David and Kelly argue and she storms out saying she's going to stay with Jackie for a while.

Brenda visits Stuart at the construction site and tells him she has signed the prenuptial agreement. She adds that maybe it is a good idea, because then everybody will know that she is marrying Stuart for love, not money.

"AND DID IT....MY WAY"

At the Walsh house, Jim is raving about his daughter being shackled up in a hotel. Cindy is equally upset, but trying to control herself. Brandon says it sounds like a replay of when Brenda and Dylan were dating. A phone call comes from Larry Carson. He and his wife want to come over, perhaps for lunch. The Walshes exchange puzzled glances.

As Donna and David are rushing out of their beach apartment for school, Kelly shows up to pick up the rest of her things. She and David argue again over who is at fault in the child custody battle over Erin.

Steve gets a phone call from Laura, his recent "blind date," but tells one of his frat brothers to say he's not around. The guys can't understand Steve's turning off on this attractive girl.

In their posh Beverly Hills hotel suite, Brenda and Stuart are awakening after a night of passion. Brenda tells him how much she is in love and Stuart responds with equally loving words.

Dylan and Brandon discuss Brenda's romance with Stuart, as they cross campus. Dylan hints again that marriage to Stuart would be a big mistake for Brenda, but he won't elaborate.

Laura attends the same chemistry lab class as Andrea and, using the ruse of needing to reach Steve about some class assignment, gets his home phone number from Andrea.

While meeting with professor Randall, to discuss his concern about D'Shawn's lack of interest in academics, Brandon is surprised to find Lucinda joining them. Randall tells his wife he wants to have D'Shawn and Brandon come for dinner. Brandon is trapped into accepting the invitation.

As the Carsons are being served cocktails before their planned luncheon, Stuart and Brenda arrive. Much to Jim and Cindy's embarrassment, Larry Carson offers to pay for the whole wedding. His wife, Vivian, adds that they have a huge number of people to invite. Bravely, Jim speaks up, saying that he and Cindy were hoping Brenda and Stuart wouldn't rush the wedding.

Larry and Vivian don't seem to hear his comment. Larry jokes about the costs and how the women will spend the next few months arguing over color schemes. Jim and Cindy stare like two animals blinded by car headlights.

Stuart and Brenda sneak out of the room and into the kitchen. He suggests that the only way to avoid this three-ring circus is to fly to Las Vegas tonight and get married. Brenda nods in agreement, but she says she has to tell Brandon first.

Brenda confides in Brandon, but finds him still opposed to her rushing into marriage. Reluctantly, he gives her his blessings and promises not to tell their parents.

John Sears approaches Dylan at the Peach Pit and rebukes him for hanging on to the past. John adds that both his former girlfriends have turned their backs on him. It's time Dylan moved on, he adds. Dylan turns to Nat and says that the only two girls he has ever loved, have ended up with "real dirt balls."

At the Walsh home, the Carsons have -gone and Cindy and Jim are fuming over what has just transpired. They begin to wonder why Larry and Vivian are pushing so hard for a quick marriage.

Brandon calls Steve and asks him to come with him to Las Vegas. He tells him Brenda is eloping with Stuart. Steve calls Kelly and she calls Donna and soon all the gang knows about Brenda's marriage plan. As Brandon is quietly leaving the house, he sees his parents in a distressed condition. He stops and tells them that he's going to Las Vegas to try to stop Brenda's marriage to Stuart.

Brenda and Stuart have settled into a Caesar's Palace suite and are having champagne.

At the airport the whole gang boards the plane for Las Vegas, Brandon, Dylan, Steve, Kelly, David, Donna and Andrea are on a mission to "stand up" for Brenda. Kelly and David are still carrying grudges but, at Donna's insistence, they try to be civil to each other. Brandon tries to get Dylan to give him the low-down on Stuart but he is still reluctant to do so. Finally, Dylan gives in and tells Brandon that Stuart used to be a drug dealer at a night club called Eve's Apples. Brandon's reaction is immediate. He has to figure a way to stop this wedding.

The gang settles into their rooms and their mood changes from festive to a mission of "rescue" of Brenda. They decide on a plan of reverse psychology. Knowing Brenda, they feel she won't listen to their rejection of the marriage, so they will pretend to be all in favor of it, but all the time trying to plant doubt in Brenda's mind. The boys will work on Stuart, exaggerating Brenda's bad habits.

In the casino, Andrea cautiously deposits a quarter in a slot machine and wins a pile of coins. A security guard steps in, however, and demands some I.D. cards. The money has to be returned and they are escorted out of the casino.

With Dylan, Stuart confesses he's done a lot of bad things in the past, but he's a "changed man" now, he says. At home, Jim and Cindy decide to fly up to Las Vegas for Brenda's marriage.

Brenda tries on a wedding dress in the bridal shop and discovers it's "wash and wear." She suddenly feels some of the romance going out of this wedding. The girls gather up some items for Brenda --"something old, something borrowed and something blue." Kelly mentions her last wedding was, her mother's to Mel. She adds that she hopes Brenda's lasts longer than that one. Some flickers of doubt cross Brenda's face.

The boys are at a strip club in the outskirts of town, for Stuart's bachelor party. Dylan mentions to Stuart how difficult it will be to attain absolute fidelity in marriage. He wonders if Brenda ~an change her ways, he adds.

Cindy and Jim arrive in their Vegas hotel room and try unsuccessfully to locate Brenda or Brandon.

At the wedding chapel, the crass commercialism is beginning to eat away at Brenda. The turquoise spotlights, a chapel organist playing "Love Me Tender" and an audio or video cassette of the ceremony are not quite what Brenda had hoped for in her wedding.

David, caught up in the wedding ambience, suggests to Donna that they too get married, at least for one night.

As the ceremony begins, and the justice of the Peace drones out lines about 11 commitment to share your lives forever til death do you part," Brenda begins to crack. She confesses she is just "in love with love" and hardly knows her husband to be. Stuart sighs in relief, realizing he's not ready for this wedding either. Jim and Cindy rush in at this moment, determined to stop the wedding. Brandon tells them it's too late, it's already stopped.

In the entertainment lounge of the hotel, everybody enjoys a release of tensions over dinner. Brenda and Stuart share a friendly dance together realizing they have made the right decision.

"TAKE BACK THE NIGHT"

At the student union, a large audience of mostly females are watching a film of 11 animal courtship" behavior as part of a week long program called "Take Back The Night." As various courtship rituals are displayed, Kelly and Donna compare their sexual relationships to those of the animals and birds. Lucinda Nicholson, Professor Randall's wife, is conducting this anthropological lecture. In the audience Brandon sits on the steps of the crowded theater with Cory Randall. Randall reminds Brandon of their dinner date tonight at his house. Brandon still feels awkward going to Cory and Lucinda's house, after the way she came on to him the last time. Brandon expresses concern about the student he is tutoring, and doubts that the black basketball player will be able to maintain an acceptable grade average.

At KEG house, the frat president warns the pledges that they must get at least a "C" average on the upcoming midterm tests. John Sears reminds Steve that Laura, his "blind date" keeps calling and he'd better call her back or tell her he's not interested. Laura calls again and Steve reluctantly takes the phone.

In poetry class, Brenda realizes how far behind she's gotten by spending too many nights out on the town with Stuart. She begs Dylan to help her catch up before midterm exams.

Steve meets Laura at the Peach Pit, intent on telling her they can't see each other any more because he has a steady girlfriend. Laura is not happy about this news and begins to cry, saying he just used her for a "one-night stand" and how he's dumping her. Steve feels terrible as she runs out of the restaurant.

Dylan comes to the Walsh home for dinner and to coach Brenda in her class work. They comment that it is "reverse role playing" for the two of them. Brandon is dressed up in tie and jacket for the dinner at Professor Randall's house, but lacks much enthusiasm for this evening out.

At the Randall's house, dinner is over and a few glasses of red wine helps contribute to a lively conversation about sports. Brandon helps Lucinda clear the table, while Randall gives D'Shawn a pep talk about his school work. Meanwhile, in the kitchen, Brandon tells Lucinda he can't believe her flirting with him right in front of her husband. Lucinda laughs, then asks Brandon if he has ever had sex on a kitchen table. A mind boggled Brandon beats a hasty retreat to join the others in the living room.

At the KEG house, Celeste drops by to bring Steve a new jacket she's bought him with her employee's discount. John Sears starts bragging, when Kelly and Celeste are out of the room, about how tonight he is going to make out with Kelly. Steve finds this offensive because of all the girls John sleeps with on campus.

After reading the lines of a love poem, Brenda is baffled as to its meaning. Dylan says, "for a girl who nearly married a guy she hardly knew, its hard to understand that she doesn't see a reflection of her own life in these lines." As Dylan reads the love poem again, Cindy and Jim overhear from the kitchen and panic, thinking Dylan is starting a new romance with Brenda.

In a bedroom at the KEG house, Kelly begins to pull back from John Sears' intense kissing. He gets angry and she tells him she thought he was a sensitive, caring person, but she was obviously wrong. Kelly walks out leaving a frustrated John Sears behind.

Kelly goes to Dylan's house to tell him what happened. Dylan wants to go punchout Sears, but Kelly says she only told him so he would realize she has matured from her attitude of a few years ago. As Dylan walks her to her car, she realizes he hasn't forgotten Sears forceful attitude toward his close friend.

Dylan exchanged a few verbal barbs with John Sears outside the student union building and warns Sears to keep away from Kelly.

Kelly joins Steve as they enter the lecture on "date rape." She kids that she didn't expect to see him there, but Steve is more serious and cautions her about the type of guy that John Sears really is. Kelly says she's already broken off with John, and gives an appreciative kiss to Steve, for his caring.

David tells Donna he's feeling very depressed because of this whole week of "male bashing" by the female students. David goes to his radio booth as Donna hurries to join Kelly, Brenda, Andrea, Dan Rubin, Laura and Leslie Sumner. Leslie announces to the gathering of students her concern about campus safety at night. Co-chairperson, Angela Rhodes, leads a discussion on "date rape."

In the gym, Brandon is working out when Lucinda comes in. She starts pressuring him again and Brandon wonders if she's sincere or just gets her kicks tempting and teasing. Across the gym, D'Shawn watches and then turns away, apparently knowing what's going on.

During the "date rape" seminar, the girls have broken into smaller groups and Kelly relates her attack at the Halloween party, two years ago. Then Brenda recounts her experience during the robbery at the Peach Pit. Andrea joins in by saying she feels the guys may be getting a "bum rap." Sometimes a woman invites problems by not taking precautions. Dan Rubin disagrees and they argue and when he tries to make up, she rebuffs him. As they are leaving the meeting, Laura buttonholes Kelly and appears to have a weighty problem. Kelly offers to meet and discuss it.

In poetry class, Brenda and Dylan argue over a poem. Brenda says it is really advocating "date rape" but Dylan says it is about "giving love a chance."

Laura tells Kelly that she was forced to have sex with a fraternity pledge last week. Kelly tells her she should report it, and perhaps announce at the rally tomorrow, warning other girls to beware of this guy.

In a tutoring session with Brandon, D'Shawn says he saw Lucinda Nicholson coming on to Brandon and he hints that he might blackmail him into taking the examination for him so he will get a passing grade. Brandon is stunned by this threat.

Laura is meeting with Kelly, Leslie and Angela Rhodes. She is relating the whole story of her "date rape" but still not revealing the student's name. The girls are sympathetic and feel Laura must reveal the guy's name at the upcoming rally, to protect other girls.

Kelly suspects that the attacker was John Sears, but Laura confesses it was Steve Sanders. Kelly can't believe this and tries to talk Laura out of revealing the name of the student publicly, until she's had a chance to talk to Steve.

David asks to be relieved of his broadcast duties and the "Take Back The Night" rally. He feels the whole seminar has been very "anti-male" and has concentrated on "worst case scenarios." He finally gives in and agrees to cover the broadcast with Donna.

Kelly goes to see Steve at the KEG frat house to try to find out the truth about his relationship with Laura. Steve tells Kelly that Laura encouraged him, even offered him a condom, and took off her own blouse. Kelly is not sure what to believe but knows a scandal like this could cause Steve to be kicked out of college or worse.

Steve talks to Laura on campus accusing her of being vindictive because he rejected her. He says if having sex with him was so terrible, why has she been phoning him day and night.

Brenda and Dylan discuss Kelly's breakup with John Sears. He doesn't believe Kelly will stay away from him, for long. Steve meets with Celeste to tell her his side of the story. He confesses he did have sex with Laura, and this is what Celeste feared most to hear. She knew he would not rape a girl, but now she realizes he doesn't truly love her.

Steve goes to talk things over with Brandon. Brandon feels he did right to confess to Celeste, but he'll have to pay the penalty. Funny thing, Brandon adds, Steve's in trouble for sleeping with someone and he's in trouble for rejecting Lucinda.

Brandon visits D'Shawn's room and tells him to forget trying to force him to take the exams. Brandon says nothing has happened between him and Lucinda. D'Shawn is obviously desperate, and says unless Brandon helps him, his whole college sports life will come to an end and his future career is finished.

An impressive parade crosses campus, with only a few hecklers on the sidelines led by John Sears. All of the group are in the march including Dylan, Brandon and Steve. Near the student union, the rally gathers and Angela Rhodes begins her speech, egging on Laura and others to point accusing fingers and name names.

Kelly grabs the microphone and relates the story of her own "date rape" and then adds that she was rescued that terrible night by her friend, Steve Sanders. Quietly Laura slips away and disappears in the crowd, unwilling to pursue her lie any further. Steve finds Laura and extends his thanks to her for not ruining his life.

At the refreshment stand, Dylan finds John Sears and after an exchange of words shoves a whole pie in his face. Brandon and Steve separate the two guys and Steve advises Sears not to make a further scene and embarrass the KEG house members.

At the gym, Lucinda continues to tease Brandon. He tells her of D'Shawn's threats, but she laughs. She says her husband wants Brandon to take the test for D'Shawn. Brandon can't believe what he is hearing, and he walks away unable to answer her.

At home, Brandon loads up his backpack for travel. He tells Brenda to tell his parents he's got to get away for awhile, to clear his thinking. He adds that "it's about to hit the fan on campus" and he doesn't want to be around when it happens.

EPISODE #090

“RADAR LOVE”

At the Walsh home, Brenda has relayed Brandon's message to their parents, that he is taking a trip out of town. Cindy expresses concern, of course, about her son's sudden departure. Brenda reminds her that Brandon is eighteen and has finished his mid-term exams. "He probably just needs to relax for a few days," she adds.

We see Brandon driving along a freeway in the Central Valley. He pulls into a station for gas and sees, in a quick glimpse, a girl drive away who looks strikingly like his old girlfriend, Emily Valentine. He follows her quickly, but then realizes it is not Emily, just a look-alike.

On campus, pledges and fraternity and sorority members are gathered to discuss the annual Thanksgiving charity contributions to Downy House, a home for wayward girls. John Sears reverts to his crude self and makes remarks about the availability of any "cute chicks" at the home. Kelly and Donna are disgusted by his remarks. Steve speaks up to reprimand John Sears and is "dressed down" for criticizing a frat member.

Donna plans a trip to Houston for Thanksgiving, to see her parents. Kelly despairs over spending the holiday with just her mother and Erin. Donna suggests that she invite Dylan for dinner, but Kelly is not sure he would come.

Later, when Kelly does invite Dylan, he says he's planning to go surfing, but seems to appreciate her thought anyway.

Dan convinces Andrea to come to his house for Thanksgiving dinner. She is hesitant, but finally agrees.

Brandon drives into a campsite for the night and meets a friendly family. They insist he join them for a campfire cookout. Brandon tells them he's driving north to Marin County to look up an old girlfriend.

The group from KEG and Alpha have arrived at Downy House, the home for wayward girls, and while the others unload the groceries, John Sears wastes no time in making a move on a pretty girl named Danise. Steve notices and give John a reprimanding look.

After dinner, Brandon tells Curtis about Emily and how he thought he saw her on the highway. It was then, he decided to drive up to Marin County to see her.

Dylan stops by the Walsh house to pick up a check from Jim Walsh, and Brenda invites him to stay for dinner. She tells him she has been cast in a college play, directed by Pablo from their English poetry class.

Cindy invites Dylan for Thanksgiving dinner next day and adds that they have room for more at the table since Brandon is away. Dylan is surprised at this news about Brandon going out of town.

Brandon arrives in Marin County at the house where Emily used to live, but finds it has been rented out, and the Valentines are in Greece.

At the beach apartment, Kelly and Donna are joined by Andrea and she helps them make cookies for Downy House. Kelly tells Andrea what a scuzzball John Sears is and how he tried to make out with a fifteen year old, named Denise. "Even if he were only being friendly, you better keep an eye on that guy," Andrea advises. David arrives home with the news that he is having dinner with his father and girlfriend, Nina. Andrea says she's very nervous about meeting Dan's parents for Thanksgiving dinner. She lets slip that she and Dan have slept together.

Brenda calls to invite Kelly and her mother to join them for Thanksgiving and to bring David along too.

Brandon calls home from San Francisco. He says he'll be home for Thanksgiving dinner next day. He then goes outside to catch a cable car and runs into Emily Valentine. They hug affectionately.

Brandon and Emily walk and talk about how he was looking for her. She invites him to her apartment, nearby.

At the pre-Thanks giving evening party at Downy House, Donna and Kelly notice John Sears seated across the room, next to Denise. In a few minutes, they leave the room. Kelly calls Steve over and tells him about John. Steve talks to a frat member, Charlie Dixon. Outside on the steps Steve finds John making "sweet talk" to Denise. Steve tells John that Charlie wants him to go back to the frat house and bring the plaque that he forgot. Reluctantly, John obeys Charlie's request. When he goes back inside, Steve receives a warm kiss from Kelly for his good deed.

At Emily's apartment she and Brandon are discussing old times, when they are interrupted by a neighbor named Rosie. Rosie invites Brandon to have turkey dinner with them. While Brandon showers, Emily asks Rosie not to tell him yet that she is going away.

At Downy house, John Sears has returned and is fuming over being sent on a wild goose chase to pick up a plaque back at the fraternity house. Ryan, the frat president, feigns regret over John's inconvenience.

Brandon calls home to tell his parents he won't be there for Thanksgiving because he's with Emily Valentine. Cindy hopes Brandon won't get hurt again by Emily.

Guests are arriving at the Walsh house including Kelly, David, Jackie and baby Erin. Dylan comes in with a bouquet of flowers.

After an awkward few minutes of questions by Dan Rubin's parents, Andrea spots a face she remembers from the Walsh anniversary party. He is the part-time bartender, Jesse Vasquez. Andrea is intrigued by him and gives him her address at college.

At the frat house, John Sears turns his wrath on Steve, but Steve stands his ground about the underage girls at Downy House that John tried to put the make on.

Kelly is steaming over the fact that Dylan accepted Brenda's invitation, after having turned down hers. Dylan says he changed his mind and besides, Kelly has been too close with John Sears lately. He wonders if she cares for him anymore

At Emily's apartment, the turkey has not turned out very well. Brandon suggests that he take Emily and Rosie out for pizza.

As they get ready to go out, Emily tells Rosie that she really loves Brandon. The mystery thickens when Rosie advises Emily that she must tell Brandon the truth.

EPISODE #091

"EMILY"

Brandon and Emily awaken in each other's arms, in her apartment in San Francisco. Emily tells him how she has matured since she last saw him. The psychiatric treatment helped her to appreciate herself, as well as others. She suggests that they get dressed and go to a Chinese restaurant for a breakfast of "dim sum." Brandon's not quite sure he's going to like that.

The girls gather at the Peach Pit for their weekly get-together. Kelly hasn't arrived yet and Brenda wonders if she is upset because Dylan turned down Kelly's invitation and came to the Walsh house for Thanksgiving instead. Kelly arrives, but holds no grudge against Brenda, saying what happened is between her and Dylan. They discuss Brandon's still being in San Francisco with Emily and also Brenda's play rehearsal. Andrea tells them about meeting Jesse, the bartender at the Rubin's house, and how he asked for her phone number.

At the frat house, Steve, along with several other pledges, is going through initiation, both physical and mental exercises. One member suggests the pledges be made to swallow live goldfish. A pledge named Muntz volunteers to do it provided he can skip the hell week activities, but the members back down on their promise.

Kelly and Donna, along with other Alpha sorority house pledges, are being paraded through the student union, dressed in robe and pajamas and shower caps, with cold cream smeared on their faces. Kelly expresses hope that they won't run into anyone they know. Leslie, the hazing leader, spots Dylan and insists that Kelly go over and give him a big kiss. Dylan accepts it all in good fun, but Kelly is humiliated.

Andrea has been trying to avoid Dan, but finally comes face to face with him. He questions her as to why she has not answered any of his phone calls. When he punches the button on her answering machine to prove how many times he's called, out comes a message from Jesse Vasquez. Dan is angry and wants an explanation. Andrea tells Dan she is not in love with him and feels she's being pushed into something for which she's not ready. She has decided to date other men she adds.

At the Chinese restaurant, Brandon and Emily are having fun selecting various delicacies from the dim sum cart. Brandon tells her about his relationships with girls over the last couple of years and why he drove to San Francisco to get away from Professor Randall's wife. He adds that he never felt emotionally toward any of them, the way he feels toward Emily.

Brenda attends the first rehearsal of the play by Pablo, a skinny, long-haired eccentric, with more attitude than talent. At the "cold reading," Brenda has reservations about the stage directions requiring her to disrobe on stage, but the playwright convinces her that this is art and she is an actress.

Steve, along with other pledges, is undergoing initiation rites that prove doubly embarrassing when Kelly and Donna pass by. Steve asks Kelly if she has a dress that will fit him that he can borrow.

Kelly and Donna help Steve get dressed up as a woman, when they hear that John Sears is trying to kick him out of the fraternity by giving him difficult tasks to perform as a pledge. Steve reluctantly poses for a picture in "full drag."

On her first date with Jesse Vasquez, Andrea joins him in the park for a game of softball. Andrea senses that Jesse is still testing her to find out why a "nice Jewish girl" would want to date a Latino bartender. Jesse confesses that he is actually a law student at UCLA.

The romantic visit with Emily continues as she and Brandon sightsee around the city. Brandon poses the question as to whether he should transfer to UC Berkeley or should Emily switch to UCLA.

Donna asks David's help in fulfilling her sorority pledge assignment. She has to get a xerox copy of her boyfriend's "tush." Hesitant, at first, to do such a ridiculous thing, David finally agrees.

Steve is told by the fraternity members that he now must appear in "drag" at the student union and as a final assignment must steal Professor Randall's most prized souvenir, a baseball signed by Jackie Robinson. The idea of breaking and entering a professor's office brings back bitter memories for Steve.

Back at Emily's apartment, Rosie drops in and tells Brandon, while Emily is out of the room, that she won't be seeing him for a while. Emily has the chance of a lifetime to study at the Cousteau Institute in France.

Next morning, Rosie drops by to see if Brandon and Emily have discussed her going to France. Rosie reminds him that if he truly loves Emily he'll encourage her to leave and not miss this opportunity.

Steve endures his assignment of standing in full drag in the student union and being the object of much kidding by Kelly, Donna, David and Dylan.

As the night of her stage performance approaches, Brenda is growing more nervous about disrobing on stage. She tries to discourage the group from attending, but without success.

Brandon decides to insist that Emily go to France to study, but she says she's too much in love with him to leave. Brandon knows that he could never live with himself if he let her give up this chance of a lifetime.

At the Peach Pit, Jim and Cindy bump into Dylan. He asks if they're going to Brenda's play tonight. This comes as news to them. At the theater, Brenda peeks through the curtain and her worst fears are realized. Out front is not only the whole gang, but her parents as well. In panic, she makes a quick decision to not bare her body. She puts on layers of sweaters underneath the cape and takes them off one at a time, much to the amusement of the audience, but not to Pablo the director/playwright. Later, he congratulates Brenda on her imaginative acting when he sees how well received his play has been.

With mixed emotions, Brandon helps Emily pack her bags for the trip to France. Like a scene out of his past, Steve is apprehended by the campus security as he is about to take Professor Randall's prized souvenir baseball.

Emily says she prefers to say goodbye to Brandon here at her apartment rather than at the airport. They stand holding each other, promising to telephone and write. Then Brandon goes to his car and drives away.

EPISODE #092

"WINDSTRUCK"

Donna wakes with a start from a terrifying nightmare in which Howard Stern had taken over her radio show. David's voice and face brings her back to reality. He has brought her a bouquet of tulips in honor of their first year together, since they started dating. He gives her a warm kiss but before things get out of hand she's out of bed and heading for the bathroom, leaving a disappointed David behind.

Brandon is greeted warmly by Nat at the Peach Pit. Steve stops by to tell Brandon how he got apprehended by security during his pledge assignment of stealing Professor Randall's souvenir baseball. Steve asks Brandon if he'll talk to Professor Randall and get the break-in charges dropped. Brandon's mind is boggled by this request. Kelly and Donna discuss plans for a Chinatown celebration with David and the others.

Donna is still plagued by the nightmare she had and its reference to her being the "last American virgin." Kelly helps her analyze the meaning of the dream.

Brandon is surprised to see the high grade he has received on Professor Randall's test. The greatest surprise is that Steve got a B plus and the black basketball player also got a B plus. Dylan joins Brandon and they discuss the abnormal grades. They agree something is quite wrong.

Later at the student union, Brandon and Dylan discuss their plans for the Chinatown dinner. Dylan brings Brandon up to date on what happened over Thanksgiving with Kelly.

As they dress for the dinner, Brenda and Brandon discuss his visit with Emily. He says how good it was to see her, but now she's gone to France to study. After the Chinatown dinner the gang gives David and Donna "anniversary gifts." One is a poster of the painting "American Gothic," with David's and Donna's faces superimposed. They all have a good laugh.

Steve stands before Sears, Keith and Ryan, his fraternity brothers at KEG. Steve asks their help in vindicating him, but they say they can't offer any "open" help, mainly because hazing on campus is illegal and any scandal might jeopardize the charter of the fraternity. They don't hesitate to tell Steve that he is obligated not to involve the fraternity at his hearing.

Outside the restaurant the gang toss coins in a wishing fountain and then drift apart. Kelly and Dylan stand alone. A warm burst of Santa Ana wind swirls around them as they slip into a deep embrace.

Back at their beach apartment Donna has been affected in a different way by the gusting Santa Ana winds. She's having an attack of sneezing and the romantic mood between her and David is demolished.

Andrea and Jesse are returning home to the dorm after having dinner with her Grandma Rose. Jesse has given Andrea a softball glove as a Hanukkah gift, saying she's got to "practice, practice, practice." As Jesse turns to leave, Andrea sees Dan . Rubin watching from down the hall. She speaks, then goes inside her room feeling a bit unnerved.

Donna awakes with a jolt from another "Howard Stern" nightmare in which her virginity is being openly discussed in front of her parents and David, on live radio.

Dylan and Kelly have spent the night together and are just getting up. Dylan suggests they drive out to the desert and maybe camp out "under the stars" tonight, but Kelly says she has a sorority pledge assignment. This comment cools Dylan's ardor and their relationship takes a step backward.

Brandon bumps into D'Shawn on campus. Brandon is still steamed by the obviously phony grades given to D'Shawn by Professor Randall and rejects the black basketball player's offer of friendship. D'Shawn says it's not a matter of black or white but actually of "green," as in money. He says he's going to play professional basketball, using any trick he can. Brandon walks away in disgust.

Andrea and Jesse drop by a little league baseball field, so Andrea can try out the new glove. Jesse tells her how important playing little league was to him. He says it inspired him to reach for bigger goals in life. They have some playful moments and end up in a deep passionate kiss.

At the Alpha/KEG car wash, the pledges are busy hosing and soaping student's cars. Dylan drives up and sees Kelly. As he gives her an affectionate kiss, John Sears tries to hose them down. This sets off a water fight between the Alphas and the KEGs with shouts of monetary contributions to the team that can wet down the most opponents.

Seeing all the fun, Steve rushes in but is stopped by Ryan, the frat president, reminding him that he's on probation. A humiliated Steve turns and walks away.

While making some public service radio spots, Donna and David discuss last night's big disappointment for him. After a year he thought Donna would finally give in to him. Donna is beginning to weaken and David has renewed hopes that she will sleep with him. In a barrio shopping area, where Jesse grew up, he introduces Andrea to his mother, uncle and cousin, who run a burrito food truck.

When Brandon visits Professor Randall's office he is displeased to find Lucinda there. She says she and her husband had a big argument, but she did not involve Brandon in any way. Brandon has mixed feelings about that and wonders what she wants now. She mentions that the break in into Randall's office was tipped-off to campus police by an anonymous phone caller.

Brandon seeks out Steve to tell him about this new information. He finds a very depressed Steve at the Peach Pit. Brandon tells Steve to find out who set him up at the fraternity. Brandon says he'll talk to Randall about this whole pledge prank.

Andrea sits at a table in the Cafe Condor having an Alka-Seltzer when Brenda joins her. Andrea explains that a burrito she ate didn't set too well. Andrea tells her that she was with Jesse all day and that she feels he's the man she wants to marry. David and Donna are settled into bed, surrounded by candle light.

David wants this to be a wonderful memory for them. Just as they move into each other's arms, the doorbell rings. David rushes across the living room wearing only his underwear, With an almost audible, "Oh my God!", he sees Donna's parents walk in, with the announcement they're here to surprise Donna with a visit. David makes excuses about falling asleep while studying. Donna walks in wearing only a teddy, just after David has said that no one is home. Their explanations do not convince Felice that her suspicions were not well founded.

It's Sunday and Brandon tells his parents he's on the way to see Professor Randall. On the phone, Donna tells David that her parents are still very upset. Trying to be calm, Felice is hurt that Donna lied to her about the sleeping arrangements, but realizes her daughter is no longer a child.

Steve confronts John Sears and Keith about the campus security being tipped off regarding the pledge break in to Randall's office. John is furious and storms off to find the fraternity president, Ryan.

Kelly and Dylan are having breakfast, after having spent the night together. They discuss children of divorce and the importance of freedom in relationships.

As Andrea comes down the hall of the dorm Dan makes a jealous remark about her spending Hanukkah with Jesse. Andrea blasts back at Dan, in defense of Jesse. She tells him how kind and caring Jesse's family is and with a strong work ethic. She adds that Jesse is a second year law student and tends bar to pay his tuition. Dan answers that it sounds like she is really in love with the guy.

Brandon visits Randall in his office. He first asks that Randall drop the charges against Steve saying it was only a pledge prank. Randall counters by accusing Brandon of sleeping with his wife. Brandon denies it, of course, but Randall is not convinced. Brandon decides to use his trump card. He tells Randall he is prepared to go to the Dean, the newspapers and the NCAA and blow the whole "grade scam" out of the water. Randall realizes he's met his match. He picks up the phone and calls security, ready to clear up the mess and drop the charges against Steve.

Donna tells David that her parents have agreed for them to continue their present living arrangements. David thinks this also means Donna will give in to his amorous advances at last. However, now that her parents trust her, Donna is not quite ready. As David hands the check over, he pretends to notice the amount is too much. Pitts offers to refund in cash, the overage.

David heads directly to the drug pusher at the dorm with cash in hand. At home, Brandon finds Brenda busy writing a letter to Stuart Carson who is working out of town on a construction project for his father. Brenda is upset because Stuart hasn't written regularly since they postponed their marriage. She wonders if his promises to be true to her, are being kept. Brandon tells her that since Dylan bought the Pit, he doesn't feel like it's his "second home" anymore.

Brandon drops in on Lucinda unexpectedly. She is not pleased that he did not telephone first. Lucinda reminds Brandon that he always pushed her away before she was divorced, and now he seems to have changed his attitude. When

Brandon asks if she wants him to leave, Lucinda moves into his arms for warm passionate kisses. At the Walsh house, Brenda has told Jim and Cindy about the "kiss-of" letter she's written to Stuart.

Over Andrea's home cooked dinner, she asks Brandon if he will "give the bride away" since her own father doesn't want to be a part of the ceremony. Brandon accepts. Andrea adds that they'd like to have a small party at the Peach Pit. Reluctantly, Brandon says he'll ask the new owner, Dylan.

When Donna comes by the apartment to pick up David for the Valentine dance, she finds David's new friend and junkie, Happy Jack, there. David announces that he's invited Happy Jack to join them. Donna is not pleased about this.

At the KEG fraternity house, the party/dance is going full blast. Steve and Kelly react to the low-life type that comes in with Donna and David. They wonder what influence Happy Jack has on David.

Brandon slips out of the dance and goes to Lucinda's apartment. She is nervous about his frequent visits and asks Brandon if he told anyone he was seeing her. She adds that it is very important they avoid any scandal, because of an NEA grant for which she has applied.

The party mood is suddenly interrupted as several fraternity brothers push and drag Happy Jack toward the front door. They announce that they caught him snorting coke upstairs and the fraternity could lose its charter if the word got out. David stands by his junkie buddy accusing the fraternity of being filled with hypocrites. David storms outside. Dylan stops him for a moment, telling him he has to turn his life around before he loses everything. David wants to know why Dylan cares. Dylan reminds David of his sympathy when Dylan's father was killed. He has never forgotten David's kind thoughts.

Brenda, Donna and Kelly have joined Andrea and Jesse's mother at grandmother Rose's wedding shower. They laugh about the sexy lingerie gifts. Donna is trying to keep up a brave front, but inside she is deeply worried about David.

Brandon comes by the fraternity house to pick up Steve but finds him badly hungover. Steve says he can't go on living at the frat house. There is too much beer consumed. He can't keep up.

David visits Andy in the drug pusher's room, at the dorm. He finds Andy is nearly hysterical with fear. He says there is a rumor that the dorm is going to be raided and he's got to move his stash immediately. He asks David to store his knapsack of drugs at his apartment. Reluctantly, David agrees.

Brandon brings Steve by Andrea's dorm room. Since Andrea is moving in with Jesse, maybe he could stay there. As they walk down the hallway, several DEA police rush past. Later they see two handcuffed students being led away, including Andy. David has escaped in the nick of time, with the cache of drugs.

Kelly and Dylan are awakened by a frantic telephone call from David. Dylan rushes out to the beach apartment to see David. He's told about the drugs in the knapsack. David fears he may have been trailed or maybe the police are watching the apartment. Dylan tells David to flush the drugs down the toilet, but David says it belongs to Andy and isn't paid for yet. David is still paralyzed with fear. He asks Dylan to flush it down, but Dylan says he has to do it and face up to his addiction.

As the last bit of drugs flush down, the police arrive at the front and back doors of the apartment. Dylan and David are cuffed and interrogated. The police say David's friend told them the drugs were taken with him. A systematic search is begun of the premises.

Kelly and Donna arrive at the apartment and are stunned at the trashing of the place. David and Dylan are alone. The police found no drugs and have gone. Donna sits close to David who is fighting back tears as he shakes all over. He tells Donna how ashamed he is of his past behavior. She tells him he has taken the first step toward recovery by admitting he has a problem.

When Jesse realizes how deeply disappointed Andrea is, that her parents have declined to come to their wedding, he decides to go and have a talk with Mr. Zuckerman. It's Valentine morning and Brandon has slept over with Lucinda. He has to rush since he is giving the bride away today, he adds. Just as the wedding vows are about to be said at City Hall, a man rushes in, followed by his wife. They are Mr. and Mrs. Zuckerman. Andrea is overwhelmed with joy.

At the wedding reception at the Peach Pit, Brandon and Brenda are despairing that neither of them has a date. Brenda can't believe that Stuart didn't even bother to send her a valentine.

Suddenly, behind her Stuart rushes in, carrying a gift and flowers. He explains he was on a job in South America. Brenda doesn't care, so long as he is here now.

EPISODE #093

"SOMEWHERE IN THE WORLD IT'S CHRISTMAS"

At the Walsh home, the usual Christmas tree and presents give a holiday feeling. The only jarring note is four large suitcases being packed with beach wear, snorkle gear and suntan lotion. Cindy and Jim, with Brenda and Brandon, plan to spend the holidays in Hawaii. The family poses for pictures wearing swimsuits and sun glasses in front of the wintry, decorated tree. They plan to have Christmas Eve at home and fly to Hawaii the next day.

As the family sits down to eat dinner, they reminisce, through flashbacks, back to their first California Christmas. They laugh over the eighty degree heat wave and the bedraggled tree they found. Brenda remembers her boutique job and how she invited a strange Santa Claus to their house for dinner.

Dylan drops by with presents for everyone. He says he's off to Baja to go surfing. He asks them to give his mother, Iris, a call when they get to Hawaii.

At the beach apartment Donna is carefully placing her favorite ornaments on the tree and telling Kelly their history. Dylan arrives with gifts for all. He remembered that Donna's birthday falls on Christmas and has a gift for her. David comes in from his bedroom dressed up and announces he's going to a party at his father's apartment for a few hours. Donna thinks Kelly should go to Mel's party too, but she's not sure it would be right. They remember how persuasive Donna can be, as we flashback to the bus ride to entertain the underprivileged kids on Alvarado.

As Dylan is packing his surfing gear, getting ready for the trip to Baja, he remembers some of the "Christmases Past" and how he went to see his father who was still in prison.

The doorbell jerks him back to reality and he opens the door to find a woman, Suzanne, in her late 30's accompanied by a 12 year old girl, Erica. She identifies herself as a friend of Dylan's father. Suzanne apologizes for detaining Dylan who is obviously packing for a trip. She asks if he knows of a motel near the bus station. Dylan offers the use of his telephone and goes to get some hot beverages for them. Erica tells her mother she wishes they hadn't come here.

At the Peach Pit, Steve is in a very down mood, telling Nat how this time of year is a jinx for him. He says he is worried that he'll be dropped by KEG fraternity. That was his father's fraternity and he is going to be bitterly disappointed. Nat advises Steve to visit his father and tell him what has happened.

At the Walsh house when the doorbell rings, they all expect that it's the airport shuttle but it turns out to be Andrea. She has a quick question to ask of Brandon. She says Jesse has invited her to Catholic midnight mass and she's wondering how to conduct herself. Brandon reminds her that he's a Presbyterian and has never been to a Catholic mass.

At Dylan's house Erica is watching cartoons on television while her mother telephones. Suzanne says they had better be going but Dylan suggests they wait til Erica finishes watching television. Suzanne begins to relate the story of her relationship with Jack McKay. She went on trips all over the world with him. Dylan is somewhat cynical about her story and wonders why she has waited so long to contact him. Suzanne tells him they lost their home and everything in the Midwest floods. Dylan realizes maybe he has jumped to conclusions and this woman and her daughter may be telling the truth.

At a country club golf course, Steve finds his father, Rushnell Sanders. Steve wonders if he'll be able to get a quiet moment with his father, among all of his fast talking cronies.

At the airport, the Walshes settle into their first class seats. Cindy is not yet comfortable with such luxury and remembers how she pretended to be a Beverly Hills society matron in the boutique where Brenda worked.

At the beach apartment, David and Donna are leaving for Mel's party. They ask Kelly, once again, to join them but she declines.

Dylan has insisted that Suzanne and Erica stay for dinner. He'll pick up some "carry out food" at the bottom of the hill. Dylan compliments Suzanne on how well she has brought up Erica. It must have been difficult without a husband around, he adds. Suzanne tells Dylan that Erica's father died last year. Her father was Jack McKay. Dylan is stunned at this news.

Brandon and Brenda kid each other as they enjoy the flight to Hawaii.

After a long wait for his father and his cronies to have drinks and exchange stories, Steve at last gets his father's attention. Steve tells him about the trouble at the frat house. His father suggests that Steve wait out the storm and keep the information to himself. One day he'll be able to turn the tables on the member who set him up.

At Mel's party, Nina comes over with the cordless phone. The call is from Kelly. She apologizes for calling but she is desperate. She's broken a tooth eating hard candies and is in pain. Mel is sympathetic and tells her the name of a pharmacy to call. They both obviously miss each other and Mel adds, he wishes the whole divorce had never happened.

The Peach Pit is closed but in the kitchen Nat and his cooks are preparing turkey dinners for the homeless that Nat will feed on Christmas day. Dylan comes by, desperate to talk to someone. He tells Nat he is not sure if Suzanne and Erica are some sort of scam artists. Nat packs up some food for Dylan to take home and advises that he give them the benefit of the doubt, at least on Christmas Eve.

Mel has fitted Kelly's tooth with a temporary crown and the pain has subsided. Kelly is very grateful and gives him a big hug.

Jesse comes by Andrea's dorm room to pick her up. Andrea is still nervous about attending the church service and wonders if she's overdressed for the occasion. Jesse reassures her by saying not to worry about the ritual and to concentrate on the feeling of good will.

After several hours into the flight to Hawaii the voice of the Captain comes up on the speaker. He announces that due to a computer malfunction they will be forced to turn back to Los Angeles.

At the beach apartment Kelly greets Donna with a combination "happy birthday" and "merry Christmas" as she returns from Mel's party alone. She says David needed some time with his father. A quick cut to Andrea as she is caught up in the solemn pageantry of the Christmas service.

The Captain's voice comes up again on the speakers to keep the passengers informed. He says they will jettison the excess fuel in case their landing gear does not release. The Walshes like the other passengers are very tense. They try to remember some positive, happy thoughts from the past in order to block out speculations of the dangers they face. The family is all holding hands as they feel the plane safely touch the runway and the Captain assures them everything is fine.

Erica surprises Dylan by giving him a picture she's drawn of a woman, a young man and younger girl. The inscription reads, Merry Christmas from your little sister, Erica.

It's Christmas day at the Peach Pit. Steve, dressed as Santa Claus is distributing presents to homeless children. All the gang is there to help serve up the food to the families. The Walshes arrive to help out too and announce they had a little plane trouble so they're staying in town for the holidays. The group and homeless guests join in singing carols.

Suzanne and Erica are about to leave, thinking Dylan has left for his surfing trip to Baja. Suddenly, Dylan rushes in carrying a Christmas tree and decorations. He holds up three tickets for Disneyland and says this is to celebrate having a new little sister.

At Nat's party at the Peach Pit, Donna goes looking in the kitchen for David. She finds him still depressed and aloof. She can't understand what's wrong. David says he can't continue their friendship this way, without a sexual relationship. Donna is stunned that he would bring this up on Christmas and on her birthday. She bursts into tears and rushes away from David.

"CRUNCH TIME"

Around the campus most students are huddled into small study groups preparing for the upcoming midterms exams. At the student union, Brandon runs into Steve who seems more concerned about an intramural volleyball game, than studying. He tells Brandon, the attitude toward him at the KEG house is quite cool since Professor Randall dropped the break in charges against him. Apparently, John Sears has told the others that Steve squealed on the others regarding the pledge prank. Steve says he hopes that if he "shines" on the volleyball court, he'll win back the fraternity's acceptance of him. Brandon tells Steve, as part of his deal with Randall to drop the charges against Steve, he must continue to tutor the black basketball player, D'Shawn.

At their beach apartment, Donna tells Kelly she's so upset about her run-in with David, that she can't concentrate on studying. When David comes in, Donna tries to ease the tension but David says he has no time to talk now. He has too much studying to do.

At Dylan's house, Erica is enjoying a new toy keyboard she got as a present. Dylan calls Kelly to say "hello." Kelly is not sure about her feelings about Suzanne and Erica living at her boyfriend's house.

Suzanne tells Dylan she's looking over the newspaper classifieds for a job and hopes to move to her own apartment soon. Dylan insists it's no inconvenience to have her and Erica living with him.

Brenda and Andrea compare their rugged exam schedules. Andrea admits to being tense, not because of her exams, but because she and Jesse had agreed not to call each other until after "crunch time." She says living on the same dorm floor as Dan Rubin doesn't exactly help either. At the dorm, Andrea is surprised to learn that Dan has requested a transfer and there is a new resident advisor named Cathy Fisher.

At the volleyball game, Steve finds that John Sears, the team captain, refuses to call him in to play and makes him sit out the whole game until the very last play.

Brandon is surprised to find D'Shawn has a new attitude toward studying. He says over the holidays his twin sister "laid the law down" to him about not concentrating on his college studies.

Dylan stops by to see Jim Walsh at home. He says he wants to give $10,000 to Suzanne and Erica, to get them set up in an apartment with furniture, until Suzanne can get a job. Jim is not sure this is a good idea. He feels they could be scam artists. He insists Dylan get her social security number so a background check can be conducted. Dylan is not comfortable with this idea but agrees to consider it.

David goes to talk to Howard, his supervisor at the campus radio station. David wants to re-run an old music/talk show for one night, so he can devote time to studying. Howard doesn't like the idea and suggests David just try harder. To help him through this tough time Howard offers him a glass of fruit juice laced with "speed." David drinks it down in desperation.

David arrives back at the apartment after his late night radio show. He is still high with "speed." Donna is puzzled by his carefree attitude about everything including her.

It's exam time in Randall's class. Steve tells Brandon that he's decided to go to the fraternity president and tell him the whole story about the hazing prank. Brandon glances around the room and notices D'Shawn has not shown up.

Dylan gives Suzanne the check and asks if she would mind giving him her social security number. At first grateful for the money, now Suzanne flies into a rage about Dylan not believing her story. She hands the check back shouting that she is not "for sale." Dylan stares in frustration.

After the exams, Randall tells Brandon that D'Shawn is in San Francisco doing some promotion and interviews for the upcoming game. He let the basketball player take a special test for the academic course. Brandon is very upset about this revelation and poses the question, "What happens if D'Shawn doesn't make it as a pro?" He storms off in disgust at the thought that the college is robbing D'Shawn of his future.

Andrea and Donna have a discussion about pre-marital sex. Andrea says she is not sorry she slept with Dan Rubin. She feels she overcame her fears of making a mistake. She says she would never have had the courage to date Jesse otherwise. When Donna asks her opinion on sleeping with David,

Andrea says that's something only she can decide. It's not what David wants, but rather what she wants. At the Peach Pit, a patient Kelly listens quietly as her mother, Jackie, raves on about how unfair the judge is in the Erin custody case. Before he starts his radio show, David drops by to see Howard. The "speed" really helped him get through the night. Howard offers him another hit of "speed," but says next time David will have to pay for it.

At the KEG house, Ryan, the fraternity president, has John Sears interrogated about who tipped off the campus police about the break in at Randall's office. Sears vehemently der-Lies any knowledge, but Steve says he's lying. Sears challenges Steve to "the test" to prove he is innocent. Steve's not sure what that is, but agrees.

Donna goes to David's bedroom to see if he's all right, but finds him very irritable. As she enters, he accidentally spills the remaining "speed" powder, but conceals this from Donna. Donna can't understand his attitude and leaves the room in tears.

Brenda and Kelly stop by the Peach Pit for some food. They discuss the exhausting last few days of exams. Kelly says she thinks Suzanne is taking advantage of Dylan. Brenda has some suspicions too, but says she does like Erica. Andrea breezes in, still tense because Jesse has not answered her messages.

David is searching the student union for Howard. He is strung out and is desperate for a hit of "speed." When he, finds Howard he's told that he'll have to wait until tomorrow. Howard says to come along with him to see some friends. They should have some "downers" that will help him.

Suzanne apologizes to Dylan for her flare up of temper. Dylan says it was really his fault and insists she takes the check. Suzanne says she has to fly to Iowa to settle some business. Erica begs to stay with Dylan and finally she agrees. Steve comes to the beach apartment looking for David. He tells Kelly and Donna that David was acting very strangely earlier today.

Brandon is studying when Jim and Cindy return home from an earlier dinner engagement. Brandon tells Jim that D'Shawn is scoring big against San Francisco. As they listen to the radio broadcast, the announcer reports that D'Shawn has collapsed with a twisted knee injury. Brandon grimaces, knowing what that could mean for D'Shawn's future in sports.

After dinner, Steve tells Kelly and Donna he is facing "the test" against Sears. He's worried he'll be kicked out of the fraternity. When they talk about David, Donna breaks down in tears again, as Steve tries to console her.

Andrea is letting Donna use her room at the dorm for studying. Donna doesn't want to run into David. As they enter the room, Andrea is surprised to find Jesse waiting for her. Donna stands by awkwardly, as she watches the two of them move into each other's arms.

Returning from dropping Suzanne off at the airport, Erica confesses to Dylan that she has sneaked her mother's social security card out of her purse. She hands it to Dylan saying she wants him to like her.

Brandon drops by to see a very depressed basketball star named D'Shawn. The player will require surgery and be on crutches. Brandon hands him his exam paper. He only got a "C," but he did it on his own. Maybe he'll decide to become a scholar instead of a sports star, he adds.

The "test" is getting under way at KEG house. The members will vote in favor of either John Sears or Steve, by dropping a black ball in the appropriate fish bowl. One by one the members vote. Slowly the black balls fill up John's bowl and Steve is vindicated. John Sears will be thrown out of the fraternity.

At home, Donna and Kelly are listening to David's radio show. Kelly tells Donna she's being too hard on herself. Kelly suspects David may be using drugs. She recognizes the symptoms from when her mother was hooked.

David is desperate again for a fix. He finds Howard, who sets him up with another "hit," but this time it's crack cocaine.

"THICKER THAN WATER"

David is in the campus radio booth finishing up his late night shift. Howard, the station manager, drops by to suggest that he drop all the references to his love life with Donna. David asks him for some pills that will take him down off the high he's been on for several weeks. Howard tells him he's not providing him with any more pills.

At the beach apartment Donna is busy packing for the ski weekend that she plans for the spring break. Kelly is not going, but feels getting away from David may be good therapy for Donna. When David arrives, Donna tries to make peace with him but he seems not to really care. They end up in the usual argument about a sexual relationship and Donna storms out of the room.

At the Walsh house, Cindy has packed some sandwiches for the group to take along in the car. Andrea calls to say she's not going because she may be coming down with the flu. Brenda, Brandon and Steve are ready to leave when Donna calls saying she's not sure she should go and leave David behind. He's acting very strangely, she adds. Brenda talks her into coming. They'll all be staying at Donna's parents house at Big Bear.

Jim calls to leave a message on Dylan's phone regarding Erica and her mother. He says he needs to see Dylan.

At the beach, Dylan is trying to get Erica to try out the new wet suit he has bought her. Erica is pretty terrified of the whole idea.

Kelly is on the phone with her, very upset, mother. Jackie is concerned that Mel has Erin for the weekend. Mel has gotten David to take care of Erin. Kelly decides to join David and help out. Kelly confronts David about his bizarre behavior, lately. She asks him if he is using drugs. She recognizes the mood patterns from when Jackie was on pills. David denies he has a drug problem, saying he just needs some sleep.

Dylan is lying on the beach with Erica, demonstrating how to ride a surfboard. As they start toward the water Erica holds back saying she can't swim. Dylan is baffled as to why she keeps making excuses about going in the water.

Jackie drops by to see Cindy Walsh, saying she just had to talk to somebody about Mel and his lack of responsibility regarding Erin. She says she feels she should get full custody of Erin.

Kelly and David go by Mel's dental office to pick up Erin. Mel and his daughter are having a fun time together. Kelly carries Erin out to the car while David visits the bathroom. David slips into his father's medicine cabinet and takes some codeine tablets. He hopes these will calm down his nerves.

At Big Bear, Donna visits the ski shop and starts adjusting her new ski boots. They are really pinching her feet. A handsome young man comes over to offer assistance and introduces himself as Chad, the manager. Chad helps Donna get the very tight boots off her swollen feet. Chad invites her to join him for lunch.

Andrea, still feeling a bit under the weather, stops by the campus health office to see the doctor. The doctor feels she may be coming down with the flu but he suggests a blood test also. Andrea asks that he run an AIDS test while he's taking blood. She adds she's not promiscuous but she is not a virgin either. The test will take twentyfour hours the doctor says.

Dylan has brought Erica to the municipal swimming pool to try to teach her to swim but Erica is not an enthusiastic student. She complains that her stomach hurts but gives it a try just to please him.

At Roxbury Park, Kelly and David are enjoying the day with Erin. When an elderly woman becomes attentive to Erin, they dutifully move away politely, having heard stories of child abductions. Erin hears the ice cream truck bell and runs toward it, with Kelly and David in hot pursuit. They scold Erin for darting away like that. Kelly leaves for a haircut appointment, advising David to keep a close watch on Erin.

At the ski lodge Donna and Chad are enjoying lunch and each other's company. Donna tells him she's staying at her parents house. He knows the big "A" frame house on the lake front he says. Brenda comes in saying she's chilled to the bone. Chad suggests he call his buddy who is a ski instructor. Maybe the four of them could get together for a date later.

Kelly returns from her haircut appointment to find David fast asleep on a bench. Erin is nowhere in sight. Frantically they begin to search for the little girl but she seems to have vanished.

The police are called and they arrive to aid in the search. Mel arrives and starts to confront David for his lack of responsibility. The police advise that a large percentage of missing children are found to have been taken by relatives. Mel wonders if Jackie is responsible for Erin's disappearance.

Dylan waits patiently outside the women's locker room at the pool, for Erica to come out. One girl who comes out tells him the young twelve year old seemed very upset. Dylan goes into the women's locker room to find Erica. Erica won't tell him what's wrong. A woman comes in the locker room and thinks Dylan is some sort of pervert and threatens to call the police. Erica speaks up saying Dylan is her brother and it's all right. Finally an embarrassed Erica confesses to Dylan that she thinks she is having her first period and she's frightened. Dylan stands mind-boggled, then suggests they go to Cindy Walsh. She'll be able to talk to Erica and console her. Erica finds new confidence after her talk with Cindy and she and Dylan are invited to stay for dinner.

When Steve, Brandon and Brenda join Donna at the ski lodge, they suggest that they all go back to the house and get cleaned up before going out to dinner. Donna declines to join, saying she's going to hang out at the lodge. Brenda cautions her not to do anything foolish with her new friend Chad.

While waiting for dinner at the Walshes', Jim tells Dylan that he's received a financial report on Suzanne. The bank report shows she has $25,000 in an account in Iowa.

Jackie arrives at the park to join in the hunt for Erin. She immediately accuses Mel for his negligence. At the height of her tirade against Mel, Jackie breaks into tears and Mel moves in to console her.

Donna and Chad are nestled close together. After a long kiss, Donna pulls back, saying that she doesn't feel she's being honest with him. She tells him she's in love with someone else, but at the moment they've split up. She doesn't feel comfortable with anyone else. Chad says he'll drive her home to the lake front house.

In the park director's office, Mel, Jackie, Kelly and David wait anxiously for word about Erin. At last a phone call indicates the police may have found their daughter. She is being brought over right away.

The Spanish housekeeper who found Erin feared getting involved with the police because of her questionable immigration status. She'd taken Erin home with her when she found the little girl alone and crying.

Suzanne arrives back at Dylan's house from her trip to Iowa. Dylan confronts her about the $25,000 bank deposit. She explains that it was a recent insurance claim payment. She adds that she and Erica will move out tomorrow. Dylan turns as Erica comes into the room. He says he doesn't care if his father is Erica's father or not. He's just happy to have a little sister.

David confesses to Kelly that he has been on drugs and that's why he fell asleep in the park and it's his fault Erin got lost. David breaks into tears and asks Kelly to help him. She puts her arms around him and assures him she will.

At the doctor's office, Andrea is shocked to find out she doesn't have the flu but instead is very pregnant.

EPISODE #096

"HEARTBREAKER"

The college campus is very quiet during this week between semesters. Brandon walks toward the Dean of Student's office. Dean Trimble congratulates Brandon on being chosen for the task force on higher education. At the end of the term, Brandon, along with other students, will go to Washington to advise a Presidential panel on education problems.

All the gang is at the Peach Pit, including Jim and Cindy Walsh, to congratulate Brandon. Cindy announces that she too is a student now. She's working on her master's degree in "family and child counseling." Nat wonders if anyone wants a waiter/waitress job for six weeks. Brandon declines saying he is too busy now. Dylan suggests maybe Suzanne would be interested. Donna glances toward David who is sitting alone. She tells Kelly how much she loves HLim. Kelly doesn't say that David has a drug problem, only that he does need a lot of care and understanding now.

David has his first session with a psychologist and reveals that he has been on drugs. He adds that he is "clean" now.

When David arrives back at the apartment, he finds Kelly and Donna trying to follow the instructions of a yoga video that Donna's mother has sent. David calls Donna into his room and confesses to her that he has been taking drugs. Donna gives him a supportive kiss and hug. David welcomes her sympathy.

Brandon meets Andrea leaving the hospital clinic. He fills her in on his appointment to the advisory panel. Cindy joins Andrea as Brandon moves over to a group of students who are posing for the official photograph of the advising panel. Cindy mentions how she had to postpone her educational plans, back when she became pregnant with Brenda and Brandon. Andrea realizes her whole life is going to be affected by her pregnancy.

Andrea finds Kelly in the student union and they have a discussion about abortion. Andrea tells her Jesse is the father, but she fears losing him if she tells him about the baby. He has years of college work ahead of him. He may not be ready to have a family responsibility. Kelly tells her she should talk to Jesse and if he really loves her, he'll accept the responsibility.

Dylan and Brandon bring Suzanne by for an interview with Nat, regarding the waitress job. Suddenly, Nat grabs his chest and slumps to the floor, suffering a heart attack. Dylan starts administering CPR as Brandon calls 911.

At the VA hospital, Nat's brother, Joey, tells Dylan and Brandon the attack was quite serious. When he's stronger, Nat will need bypass surgery. At the Peach Pit, Joey is in the process of calling and cancelling orders for goods and supplies. He tells Brandon he has no alternative but to close the restaurant. Brandon volunteers to come in and run the Peach Pit until Nat is able to return. Joey is not sure that will work out. The group signs a get-well card that features a mega-burger. They are all concerned for their friend, Nat.

David tells Donna he is going to do his radio show for the next couple of nights, until Howard gets back from vacation. Donna reminds him that the psychologist advised him to avoid places and situations where he had used drugs. Steve joins them and volunteers to cover for David for a night or two. He doesn't know about the drug problem David has. Steve just thinks he's overly tired.

Andrea has an appointment to meet Jesse for a talk. Jesse fears Andrea wants to break up their romance. He is overjoyed to hear her say how much she loves him. He tells her about an appointment he's gotten to a clerkship in the Federal Court of Appeals in San Francisco for next summer. Jesse says he wants her to come with him. Andrea tries to be excited for him, but she can't bring herself to ruin his moment of joy by telling him that she's pregnant.

Kelly talks to Dylan about what he would do if she found herself pregnant. He says he's grown up a lot since Brenda had her pregnancy scare. Kelly doesn't say that Andrea is the one in trouble.

Brenda stops in to see her father in his office before starting to work. She jokes about how weird it is to be in some of the same classes with her mother. Joey, Nat's brother, comes in for a meeting with Jim Walsh, regarding the financial condition of the Peach Pit.

Brandon and Dylan take the get-well card to Nat. He thanks Dylan for saving his life with CPR. Nat asks about how business is going at the Peach Pit. Brandon avoids answering the question, not wanting to tell him the place is closed.

Brandon and Brenda discuss Nat's condition and Brenda says Joey met with Jim regarding the Peach Pit. She says Joey is a 50% owner and feels it may be necessary to sell off the restaurant.

At the campus radio booth, Steve is covering for David, but has changed the program format. He calls up 900 numbers and puts the sleazy sex conversations on air. David is listening at home and moans in disbelief. Steve puts on a CD record and dashes to the coffee machine in the hallway. Suddenly the radio booth door slams shut and he is locked outside. Steve telephones David to tell him what's happened. Donna and David rush down to the radio station.

At breakfast, Cindy announces that from now on everybody will have to prepare their own food because she has early classes. Brandon says Nat will have the Peach Pit open soon and not to worry. Jim Walsh tells Brandon that Joey wants to sell the Peach Pit.

Andrea runs into Kelly at the student union. She says she still did not tell Jesse about her pregnancy. Kelly reminds Andrea that it is best to be honest with Jesse, but Andrea is still not sure. Brandon visits Nat and is pleased to see him looking better, but surprised that Joey has talked to him about selling the Peach Pit. Nat says he knows it is probably the best action.

David talks to Kelly and tells her he is trying to find a permanent replacement for his radio talk show. His psychologist thinks it is best to relieve the stress, David adds. David persuades another disc jockey to cover for him. As he leaves he stops into Howard's office to pick up some paperwork. He spots several folded packets of drugs in the desk. The temptation is too great. He pockets them.

Brandon asks Andrea's advice about him trying to run the Peach Pit for Nat while he is sick. Andrea is not sure Brandon should spread himself so thin, but adds who is she to give advice. She confesses to Brandon that she is pregnant and afraid to tell Jesse. Brandon says, if he were Jesse, he'd never take a chance on losing her.

David tells Donna he feels great now and is going to do Ns late night shift at the radio station. He is back on "uppers" again. Brandon has just told his father his plan to run the restaurant for Nat. Jim is strongly opposed, but Brandon says he can't let Nat down.

Andrea braces herself and goes to see Jesse. She tells him she's pregnant. Jesse takes her in his arms and kisses her tenderly.

Brandon goes to the Peach Pit to start opening up. The front door opens and in walks Dylan, Steve, Donna and Brenda ready to go to work.

"LABORS OF LOVE"

Kelly drives Andrea to the Planned Parenthood Clinic. Andrea has decided to have an abortion, but the counselor tells her there will be a slight delay due to a waiting list. Kelly feels Andrea should discuss her pregnancy with Jesse before having an abortion.

At the Peach Pit, Brandon, assisted by Suzanne, Steve and Dylan are keeping the restaurant open. Today is the day for Nat's bypass heart surgery. They comment that David is late for his shift, washing dishes.

At the beach apartment, Donna and Kelly wake David and try to get him dressed. A paper of crystal meth drops out of David's shirt. Kelly and Donna realize he is hooked on drugs and lying about his addiction. David gets angry and Kelly tells him she's moving out. Donna decides to move out too, until David turns his life around.

At the hospital, Joey, Dylan and Brandon have a quick exchange of words as Nat is wheeled by on the way to six hours of surgery. Kelly telephones Dylan and asks if she can stay with him for a while until David decides to take the cure for his addiction. Donna feels badly about leaving David stuck with the rent.

Brenda enters a seminar taught by Lucinda Nicholson. Brenda tells Lucinda she is Brandon's sister. She adds that her brother was in Lucinda's husband's class. Lucinda says they're divorcing. Kelly joins Brenda in class.

Andrea gets up the nerve to tell Jesse that she's decided to have an abortion. Jesse is not pleased with her decision. He wants them to get married and have the baby, but Andrea argues that her whole life will change. She won't be able to continue college. Jesse is firm and tells her if she gets an abortion, he does not want to see her anymore.

Jim and Cindy join Brandon at the hospital waiting room. Brenda brings some sandwiches from the cafeteria. She mentions that her seminar teacher is Lucinda and that she's divorcing her husband. Brandon is very surprised to hear this news.

Kelly tells Dylan how concerned she is about David's addiction as she unpacks some of her personal things. A knock at the door interrupts a warm kiss between them. It's a frantic Donna at the door. There's no room in the sorority house. She asks if she can stay at Dylan's house too.

David shows up early for his radio disc jockey show and tells Howard he thought he'd just hang out here. Maybe Howard has a "little taste of something" to share. Howard gets angry and tells David he's become a junkie. There's no place at the campus radio station for him anymore. Howard fires David.

Still at the hospital waiting room, Brandon dozes off and dreams that he's a hospital patient with bizarre things happening around him. Joey rouses Brandon to tell him Nat's in the recovery room now and everything is o.k

At the Peach Pit, Suzanne discusses the difficulty of running the restaurant with volunteer help. She feels an infusion of money could turn the business around. We see Dylan overhear the conversation and he drifts into deep thought.

Over breakfast, Brandon tells his parents Nat is already sitting up and is doing fine. He adds that he's asked Suzanne to open up today so he can attend classes. Brandon runs into Dean Trimble on campus and promises the concerned counselor of the Task Force, that he'll be attending all the meetings again, now that Nat's feeling better. Lucinda passes by them and Dean Trimble introduces Brandon. Lucinda pretends it's their first meeting.

During Lucinda's seminar, Andrea feels nauseous and rushes to the restroom. Kelly follows her to make sure she's all right. Dylan makes an appointment to see Jim Walsh. He tells Jim he wants to buy the Peach Pit, at least Joey's fifty percent. Jim feels the restaurant is a very risky investment but Dylan is determined and says that he and Suzanne can make it profitable.

In Nat's room, Joey, Brandon and Dylan announce the news about Dylan's investment. David visits a drug dealer in the campus dorm but finds Andy won't accept a personal check, only cash, he says.

At the Peach Pit, Kelly, Donna and Steve congratulate Dylan on his "new" restaurant. David joins the group and asks the girls how he is expected to pay the apartment rent. Kelly tells him it's his problem. Donna is not too sure, she can do this to David, even if it may help him take control of his life again. Donna follows David as he leaves and hands him the rent money for her share, and also Kelly's share. She makes out a check to David.

At Andrea's dorm room, she tells Kelly about Jesse's threat to break off their romance if she goes through with the abortion. Andrea adds that she still feels she is not ready for motherhood.

David passes Kelly in the dorm hallway as he goes to Andy's room. He and Kelly hardly speak. He knocks on Andy's door saying that he has cash, this time.

Brandon and Brenda discuss Dylan's buying of the Peach Pit. Brandon admits that he feels a bit left out now. The man with the money always has the power he adds.

Jesse comes by Andrea's room. Jesse is concerned for her and thinks she has already had the abortion. Andrea moves into his arms saying she has changed her mind. She wants to keep the baby now.

Brandon talks to his father about his feelings regarding Dylan's purchase of the Peach Pit. He can't help but hold some resentment. At the ICU of the hospital, Brandon is late arriving and visiting hours are over. Dylan is just leaving and Brandon tries to bury his resentment toward Dylan.

The gang is really getting good at their jobs at the Peach Pit. Dylan announces that he's hired three new waiters so they'll all be able to relax again soon. Andrea arrives at the Peach Pit with Jesse. She wants to announce that she and Jesse are getting married and they're keeping their unborn baby. They all gather around to congratulate the couple.

Donna telephones David to invite him to join them at the Pit, but he doesn't answer. At Andy's room, David is encouraged to try "meth," intravenously. Andy tells him to inject into a vein in his foot and there won't be any telltale needle marks.

Brandon pays a surprise visit to Lucinda at home. Brandon says he hopes that he wasn't the cause of her divorce from Professor Randall. Lucinda warms him and they move into each other's arms.

"SCARED VERY STRAIGHT"

At Dylan's house, Kelly and Donna are washing out panty hose as Dylan comes into the bathroom to shower. Donna suggests that she should move back to the beach apartment. There is really a crowd here, she says, but Kelly says, "no." It is important for David to realize he has a drug problem and then turn his life around, she adds. Nobody can do that for him, Kelly reminds Donna.

At the apartment, Mel is talking to his son about his drug problem. David is still denying that he is an addict. Mel agrees to pay the apartment rent if David promises to stay away from drugs.

Steve tells Brandon at the Peach Pit, that his home life is changing. His mother is going to New York to do daytime soap and has subleased the house for two years. Steve is moving into John Sears' old room at the fraternity house on campus.

Across the restaurant, Andrea is telling Donna and Kelly that she and Jesse have set a date for their wedding. They've chosen Valentine's Day for the ceremony. Andrea adds that her parents are not happy about the marriage and feel their daughter is throwing away her life. Andrea is not sure her grandmother, Rose, will be very receptive, either.

Nat shows up unexpectedly at the Peach Pit and is warmly greeted by everyone. His recovery from bypass surgery is progressing very well.

Jesse and Andrea visit her grandmother Rose and announce that they are getting married. Rose surprises them with her warm acceptance of their marriage plans. After all, what can her grand-daughter do since she is pregnant. Rose adds that she's giving Andrea a wedding shower.

Donna stops by the beach apartment to pick up a dress for the Valentine dance. She asks David if he will be her date.

EPISODE #099

"ADDICTED TO LOVE"

Brandon is showering and dressing for the first of the formal dinners of the Task Force on Education, being held at Dean Trimble's house. Brandon and Lucinda have decided it is best that she not attend as his date for the evening. The stakes are too high for both of their futures to risk any scandal. After a long passionate kiss, Brandon pulls away to finish dressing.

Donna is gathering up her personal things at Dylan's house preparing to move back to the beach apartment with David. She expresses concern that Kelly isn't moving back too and Donna is afraid David will think she's there just to keep an eye on him. Kelly says she just wants to spend some time with Dylan alone.

At the dinner, the guests mingle, exchanging pleasantries. Dean Trimble rescues Brandon from two elderly librarians and comments that he's surprised Brandon didn't bring a date. Brandon shrugs it off saying that she had to cancel out at the last minute. Josh Richland moves in to speak to Brandon, telling him he plans to do a feature story on him, for the school newspaper. He plans to interview friends and teachers and find out what really makes Brandon "tick." Brandon is not sure he wants such close scrutiny and wonders how it might affect his relationship with Lucinda.

Brandon arrives home to find Jim and Cindy still up. He tells them about the dinner and says he may go over to Steve's house later.

Brenda hears Brandon come upstairs and joins him to show off her new cocktail dress. Stuart has invited her to Palm Springs, she adds. Brandon says he would have asked her to go with him to the Chancellor's dinner on Saturday. He says it seems very important to be seen with the right sort of people at these functions. Brenda says she can't believe he can't get a suitable date and adds that she knows he's been dating someone. Brandon ignores her curiosity and heads for his room. Donna finds David is a bit nervous, just as she is, but he tells her his psychiatrist says that's quite normal at first, after drug addiction.

Brandon telephones Lucinda telling her the dinner was a bit stressful. She invites him to come over for one of her tension-relieving massages.

At breakfast Brandon is missed, but Cindy assumes he had an early class. Stuart drops by to pick up Brenda to take her to class and then afterwards drive down to Palm Springs for the weekend.

Lucinda's class has a lively discussion going, about the power of sex used by women. Throughout history, sex has been a powerful weapon for women, they all agree.

After class, Andrea discovers she's left one of her text books in the classroom upstairs. Kelly volunteers to get it for her very pregnant friend. While waiting, Steve asks Andrea if she has reached a decision to let him take over her dorm room. Andrea is hesitant saying she'll need it on weekends and also require use of the computer, but finally gives in to Steve's request.

When Kelly arrives back at the classroom, she finds a rather depressed Lucinda reading a letter from NEA regarding her request for a financial grant. They have rejected her application. Kelly invites her to join her at the Peach Pit and discuss alternatives. Dylan joins them in the booth and Kelly tells him about Lucinda's documentary film on a Central American Indian tribe. The film is an important work but can't be finished without funds. Dylan expresses interest and asks to read Lucinda's proposal. Kelly adds that Dylan has been known to invest in worthwhile causes. Brandon and Steve come in and sit at the counter. Nat tells them the "lady film producer" is trying to get Dylan interested in investing in her production. Brandon is stung by this latest development.

Brenda and Stuart are enjoying a fun drive in his four-wheel Range Rover, heading for Palm Springs. Stuart mentions the friction that goes on between him and his father and that he never seems to be able to meet his father's expectations. He suggests they camp out under the stars tonight before going to the hotel and facing the business meetings with his father. Brenda complains that she didn't come prepared for a camping trip, but she gives in to his charm.

As Andrea is packing her personal things in her dorm room, Josh Richland is quizzing her about Brandon, for his in-depth article. Andrea gives a glowing account of Brandon. Richland implies that Andrea sounds like she has a crush on Brandon. Then he adds, that perhaps her unborn child was fathered by Brandon. Andrea is about to let him have a taste of her anger when Steve comes in carrying a TV set. Richland leaves saying he has enough to work on, for now.

Steve tells Richland if he wants to know what a real friend Brandon can be, he should interview him. Last semester, Brandon talked to Professor Randall and got him out of a sticky situation, Steve reveals.

Kelly meets with David at a piano store where he is considering renting one and concentrating on his music again. David asks her to move back to the apartment along with Donna. It would mean a lot to him for them to be together again. Kelly agrees to think about it.

Richland tries to get some information out of D'Shawn about Brandon, but he former basketball player, that Brandon tutored, has little to say. Richland crosses to Brandon as he enters the gym, but Brandon gives him a gentle brush off as he moves over to D'Shawn with his knee exercise therapy. After Richland leaves, D'Shawn mentions that the reporter brought up Lucinda's name in the conversation, asking if Brandon was meeting her here at the gym.

Later, Brandon stops in to see Lucinda at her office. Once out of sight inside, they melt into each others arms for a passionate kiss. Brandon tells her about the interviews that Richland is conducting around campus. Lucinda suggests Brandon find a "public date" that he can be openly seen with. She suggests that Dylan's friend Kelly would be perfect. Dylan,might go along with the idea, Brandon answers. Lucinda mentions how excited she is about Dylan's offer to fund her documentary film. Brandon begins to wonder how involved Lucinda intends to become with Dylan.

In a remote desert location, Stuart pulls his Rover to a stop. This is where they can set up camp, under the stars. They kiss passionately but Brenda says she's getting chilled. She goes back to their car to get her sweater and accidentally locks the keys inside. Stuart is furious and begins to act very ernotionally. They try to reach through a window that's slightly ajar, but can't open the door. Brenda is stunned at how angry Stuart has become.

Stuart continues to sulk over being late to the meeting with his father in the morning. Brenda thinks she hears a car sound and rushes to the small desert roadway. The driver, a low-life type, stops and agrees to give them a lift to the nearest telephone, about thirty miles away.

Steve is on the telephone with a fraternity brother thanking him for the copy of Playboy Magazine he slipped under the door. Steve's conversation is interrupted by Kathy Fisher, the dorm counselor for the floor. She advises Steve that he should keep down the noise and behave himself while occupying Andrea's room.

Brandon stops in at Dylan's house to talk to Kelly about going as his date to the social function at the Chancellor's house tomorrow afternoon. Dylan doesn't seem to mind, so Kelly accepts.

In the desert, Brenda and Stuart have arrived at a rundown motel, called Cozy Court. The woman owner has cats all over the place and she's rather strange, but they have no choice but to book a room for the night. They find the bed too small so Stuart sleeps on the floor. Neither of them are in a good mood at this point. Next morning, they drive back to their Rover with a mechanic and find the vehicle stripped of everything, by vandals.

Lucinda is a bit upset that Brandon shows up at the house without telephoning. Someone may have been visiting her and then it would require a lot of explanation, she says.

At the elegant lawn party, Dean Trimble takes Brandon and Kelly over to meet the Chancellor. Kelly is excited about meeting the Nobel Prize winner.

Stuart and Brenda arrive at his father's hotel in Palm Springs. Both he and Brenda are still feeling irritable, but try to cover it up when they greet Mr. Carson. Within minutes, however, Stuart's conversation evolves into one of accusations. His father brings up Stuart's lateness and his lack of maturity and responsibility. Brenda finally explodes at both of them and tosses the engagement ring at Stuart. She storms off in disgust.

Brenda calls Dylan's house, trying to reach Kelly, hoping she will drive down to the Springs and pick her up. Dylan explains that she's out with Brandon. He offers to come and get her.

Dean Trimble comments to Brandon what an asset a girl like Kelly can be. He's noticed that Kelly has had two lengthy conversations with the Chancellor.

Brandon congratulates Kelly on her "social success" and then arm in arm, they are off to Donna and David's party.

On the long drive back, Brenda tells Dylan how much she appreciates his friendship. They laugh about their big "snafu" at the Mexican boarder last year. Brenda says they joked about it, but Stuart is not able to laugh off simple mistakes. She adds that since she and Dylan broke up, she's never been able to start a lasting relationship. Dylan senses Brenda wants them to get back together, but he's not ready to start up their relationship.

David's party is swinging at the beach apartment. Brandon and Kelly arrive to join Jesse, Andrea, Steve, David and Donna. As they gather around David's new piano to join in song, Dylan and Brenda walk in. They ask where Brenda left Stuart and soon everyone is filled in on what has transpired over the last few hours.

"CHANGE PARTNERS"

Students are scurrying across campus to class, as Brandon catches up to Kelly. He hopes she is as enthusiastic about the outdoor retreat this weekend as he is. Kelly says it's fine with Dylan, not that he really has any say about it. Brandon chatters on about the dignitaries who will be attending the conference. Brandon hurries off to Steve's dorm room to drop off a poster to decorate the walls. Two of Steve's frat buddies are visiting and complain about the crowded conditions at the fraternity house. They wish they had a private room like Steve has. The loud talking and CD music brings Kathy Fisher on the run. She warns Steve that he'll have to keep the noise down or he may have to move out.

The girls are just finishing up with Lucinda's class on the subject of monogamy. Kelly expresses the idea of a different partner for different periods of a person's life. Dylan has been sitting in the back of the classroom and asks her which one she thinks he is. Lucinda joins them and Dylan says he's anxious to see her incompleted film. Lucinda says she'll book a projection room. Kelly adds that she is going with Brandon to the weekend retreat...,, Donna and Brenda exit Lucinda's class still discussing the role of women in society. Brenda confesses that walking away from the relationship with Stuart is definitely the right move. Then she stuns Donna with the revelation that she told Dylan she still has a warm spot in her heart for him. As they approach Donna's car, they notice that they are being followed by a lean and hungry looking dog. When they offer the dog some "trail mix" snack; he jumps into the front seat but then obediently gets out when ordered. As they drive away, the dog waits for a few moments then chases after them.

Andrea confronts Steve about Kathy Fisher's phone call. She tells Steve he has one more chance, but he'll have to keep the KEG boys out of the room. Andrea shows Brenda and Donna the ultrasound picture of her unborn baby. They debate as to whether the fetus is a boy or girl. In the midst of the discussion, the "dog" bounds in through the Peach Pit kitchen. The dog seems to have taken a liking for Donna and curls up at her feet.

At Lucinda's, Brandon says he'll be away all weekend at the seminar. Lucinda tells him not to worry, she'll be with Dylan showing him her film. Brandon has mixed feeling about this.

At the apartment, Donna finds her new dog has added a new friend. He seems to like David's piano music. Since the music is by Rachmaninoff, they name the dog Rocky. Kelly feels very strongly that they should try to locate the real owner. David notices a strange bald spot on Rocky's chest and they ponder what has caused it.

As Brandon is packing for the weekend retreat, Cindy and Jim express surprise that his date for the conference is Kelly. Donna and Rocky arrive with Kelly to join Brandon. Brenda is excited to see the dog, but they all express concern over the shaved areas on Rocky's lower chest.

Steve's KEG pal, Muntz, drops by the dorm room. Steve warns him they'll have to be very quiet because he's already on probation. Muntz begs Steve to let him use the room for a few hours with his girlfriend. He says there's no privacy at the KEG house. Steve reluctantly gives in to Muntz's request.

Brandon and Kelly arrive at the retreat and are soon joined by Dean Trimble. With the dean, is the Chancellor's daughter from New York. He tells Kelly that she and Clare will be roommates for the weekend. They laugh about who will be the chaperone.

Dylan and Lucinda screen the very rough cut version of her film about an Indian tribal marriage ceremony. Dylan is intrigued by the film and also by Lucinda. She invites him to have a special Guatemalan dinner at her home.

Brandon is surprised to find Richland from the school newspaper sharing the cabin. Richland wants to quiz Brandon on several issues mentioned during talks with Steve and others. The reporter wants specifically to know about why Professor Randall let Steve off the hook after the break in to his office. Brandon explains that he'd been tutoring a student for Randall and he returned the favor. Richland then raises Brandon's ire by asking pointily if he knows why Lucinda divorced her husband. Brandon walks out liking this reporter less than ever.

Lucinda joins Dylan, carrying a tray of specially prepared corn meal delicacies. She arranges candles on the tray and recites a loose translation of the Indian prayer. They move closer to each other and then Lucinda brushes her lips against his. Dylan is not sure of his feelings at this moment.

Brandon tells Kelly about Richland's interview. Kelly shrugs it off saying Brandon has nothing to hide. Brandon turns away and then confesses to Kelly that his "real steady" is Lucinda Nicholson. Kelly is very surprised.

Donna takes the dog, Rocky to a veterinarian for a checkup and is told that the dog appears to belong to the University medical lab. He speculates that the dog may have been released by some animal rights activist. The vet says he has to call the medical lab since the dog may have been involved with a contagious disease experiment.

A square dance is in progress with Brandon and Kelly and Clare with Richland involved. After switching partners, Kelly reports to Brandon that Richland is still out to get some "dirt" on Brandon. Kelly reminds Brandon how he used to hate dancing and at the high school Spring Prom had told her they could never be lovers because he thought of her as a sister.

Andrea stops off at her dorm room to find Steve has lent the room to his KEG buddy, Muntz and girlfriend, Sherry. Andrea is furious and calls out to Steve to demand that he clear his things out of the room immediately.

During a walk by the lake in the moonlight, Brandon tells Kelly he is not sure all the sneaking around with Lucinda is what he wants. He says that an above-board, out in the open romance with someone like Kelly is what he would prefer. They move close into each other's arms and share a warm kiss.

Lucinda drops by the Peach Pit to see Dylan. She questions why he walked out so abruptly last night. Dylan says he wonders if her passion for him has mainly to do with getting funding for her documentary film production. Lucinda denies the accusation and walks out. Andrea, thinking Steve has cleared out of her dorm room, is startled to find him still there and with a half undressed new girlfriend, Kathy Fisher.

As they pack to leave the retreat, Kelly tells Brandon she is having second thoughts about their new relationship. She is not sure she is ready to start up a romance with him.

Donna and Brenda, while on the way to the medical lab to return Rocky, are confronted by animal rights activists who are determined to block all medical testing with animals. Using scare tactics, they almost have Donna changing her mind until

Andrea arrives. Andrea convinces Donna there is a lot of good, worthwhile research being done, and these zealot activists only tell their side of the argument. Donna decides to return Rocky to the lab when she's convinced they treat the animals humanely.

At the beach apartment, Donna still misses her dog, Rocky. In the meantime, Jesse has used his influence to talk to the medical lab authorities. Since Rocky has been outside their medical control study for over a week, the test results are no longer valid. They agree to release Rocky to Donna.

Kelly and Dylan are back together. Dylan says that nothing happened romantically with Lucinda. Brandon overhearing the conversation sneaks out and heads for Lucinda's house.

EPISODE #101

"A PIG IS A BOY IS A DOG"

In the early morning, David and Donna are taking Rocky, the dog, out for a run, but they find the dog would rather have his belly rubbed and tires quickly. Brenda is still curious about who Brandon is dating. She realizes Kelly is just a cover up. Finally, Brandon tells her that he is seeing Lucinda Nicholson, but it is very important that she not tell anyone.

Dylan and Kelly are having coffee at the campus Condor's Nest. While glancing at the college newspaper, they comment that Donna and Brenda are really caught up in the Animal Rights Movement. Dylan says he gets a little fed up with these zealots who equate "eating fried chicken with humans on Schindler's List." Dylan comments on a photograph showing Kelly and Brandon dancing at the "weekend retreat." Kelly quizzes Dylan about his financing of Lucinda's film documentary. She irritates Dylan by suggesting that he is backing down on lending her the money because she's a strong and opinionated woman. Kelly begs him to reconsider her project.

From across the room, Josh Richland notices Kelly giving Dylan a very warm, passionate kiss. As Kelly leaves, Richland quizzes her as to whether she is Dylan's girlfriend or Brandon's. She brushes him aside by saying that she and Brandon are just good friends.

On the golf course, Steve and Brandon whack around a few balls. Steve asks Brandon what's going on between him and Kelly. Brandon answers that she is just helping him out with campus politics.

At the animal rights meeting, the leaders - Jonathan, Janet and Allan are whipping the group into a fervor by telling more horror tales of mistreated experimental animals. Brenda and Donna volunteer to hand out leaflets to the rally. The activists hope to have the on-campus test laboratories closed.

At home Brandon tells his father that Steve and his father want them in the father/son golf tournament. Brenda arrives home all fired up and announces she's giving up the eating of meat.

Kelly drops by to talk to Brandon about Dylan's backing of Lucinda's film. He's agreed to have dinner with Lucinda, but Kelly feels he resents the growing friendship between her and him. If Brandon were there as Lucinda's date, maybe Dylan would forget about the weekend retreat.

At the beach apartment, Donna and David can't get Rocky to eat or drink and he's breathing heavily.

Lucinda is upset that Brandon has confided in Brenda and Kelly about their secret relationship. Brandon feels that Dylan will reconsider financing her film if he knows that the two of them have a relationship. A rap comes at the door, interrupting their discussion. It's Richland who asks to speak to Lucinda. Brandon quickly hides behind some of the editing equipment. Lucinda agrees to have an interview with Richland the next day.

Lucinda tells Kelly that she and Brandon will join her and Dylan for dinner. While Donna and Brenda are passing out Animal Rights rally flyers, David comes by to report on Rocky's health. He lies to Donna, but tells Brenda the truth. The vet reports that Rocky has cancer.

Andrea convinces Donna and Brenda to tour the lab facility and see how they conduct their tests. Andrea points out that one test being conducted on sleep patterns in cats could save the lives of thousands of human infants from death by AIDS.

Rush Sanders stops by the KEG house to pick up his son, Steve. He wants to go to a golf driving range and practice. Steve is a bit put off by how important winning the golf game is to his father. He says he thought the golf tournament was supposed to be a fun time.

The dinner at Dylan's house is all ready, with candles and fine china. Kelly has gone all out to impress Lucinda. When Dylan notices a fourth place setting he wonders who else is invited. Kelly tells him it's Lucinda's boyfriend, Brandon. Dylan is completely surprised.

As Donna tries to give Rocky some medication, Brenda feels David must tell her the truth. David gently tells her that the dog has cancer and the vet feels he should be put to sleep. Donna is stunned.

Over dinner the subject of financing Lucinda's film is discussed, but Dylan remains cool to the idea. When Lucinda and Brandon leave, Dylan tells Kelly how last weekend Lucinda tried to lure him into her bed. Kelly is shocked and angered. She grabs her things and rushes out the front door.

Brandon tells Brenda that the dinner at Dylan's did not go well. Brenda dashes off to her Animal Rights rally. Dylan calls Kelly but she tells David to tell him she's gone to class.

In Lucinda's class, Andrea explains that Donna and Brenda are probably still at the rally. When Lucinda tries to move the class discussion away from the subject of fidelity, Kelly asks pointed questions about deceit and betrayal in relationships. Lucinda reminds Kelly that most primitive tribes share their mates with other members of the group.

In spite of the radically vocal rally, the college trustees have voted to shelve the issue of banning the college lab testing facilities. The leaders become more vocal and angry. The rally begins to degenerate into a mob and one trustee is attacked. Donna and Brenda decide it is time to separate themselves from this group.

At the Peach Pit, Andrea, Jesse, Brandon, Kelly and Steve are discussing a suitable name for Andrea's baby. Kelly and Brandon move over to a booth for a private conversation. Kelly tells Brandon about Lucinda making moves on Dylan at her house. Kelly tells Brandon that she feels she must tell Dylan that she and Brandon became very close last weekend at the retreat.

As Donna holds an obviously dying dog in her arms, she begins to cry. Brenda on the other hand begins to blame the college laboratory for Rocky's death, saying they're not going to get away with it anymore.

Brandon confronts Lucinda about her making moves on Dylan. She shrugs it all off saying that what happened with Dylan does not change her feelings for Brandon. Brandon answers, that he is not sure what Lucinda means to him anymore.

Brenda goes to Allan's house, eager to join in more forceful efforts against the college lab facility. They assign her the task as a lookout in the college building.

Donna and Kelly discuss what the loss of a pet means to its owner. Donna says Brenda seemed to suffer the loss of Rocky too, but her emotions bordered on anger.

Brandon and Steve are telling Cindy about the golf tournament on the weekend, when Dylan drives up. He appears to be in an angry mood and asks to see Brandon alone. Dylan begins to vent his anger at Brandon about the Kelly retreat trip, setting him up with Lucinda to get her film financed and a host of other grievances. They are about to exchange blows when Steve steps in as peacemaker. For his trouble, Steve gets on the receiving end of Dylan's fist. Suddenly, all three are scuffling on the floor. It's all over in a few minutes and the close friends begin to laugh about their outburst of temper.

In a darkened hallway, Brenda stands watch as several of the other radical activists go off down the corridor toward Lab #33. In the laboratory the group opens the cages and releases the test animals. Suddenly, the hall lights switch on and a half dozen F.B.I. agents rush in grabbing Brenda and the others.

Dylan tells Kelly about his scuffle with Brandon. Kelly is rather flattered that the boys fought over her. A phone call comes from Brenda to Dylan. She has been arrested and jailed. He says he has to go post bail for her release. Kelly goes with him, but secretly wonders why Brenda didn't call her parents or Brandon for help.

"CUFFS AND LINKS"

Brenda, having been arrested for participating in the breaking and entering of the medical labs at the college, is now at the police station undergoing fingerprinting and photographing and finally confinement in a crowded prison cell with others.

Dylan arrives with Kelly in answer to Brenda's telephone call. The desk sergeant advises them of the charges against Brenda and the fact that her bail is set at $ 50,000. Dylan realizes he has to call Brenda's parents even though she asks that he not tell them. Kelly is still upset that Brenda called Dylan for help and he rushed to her aid. Dylan gets a bit angry at Kelly for questioning his actions.

At the Walsh house, Jim and Brandon are up having coffee and ready for Steve and his father to pick them up for the golf tournament. Just as the foursome are about to drive off in Rush Saunder's new Bently, Dylan and Kelly arrive. Dylan tells Jim Walsh he must speak to him privately.

Inside, Jim is joined by Cindy as Dylan tells them Brenda is in jail. At the devastated college medical labs, Andrea is helping the staff clean up the damage and round up the stray animals. Andrea expresses her anger toward the extremist animal right activists.

Brenda talks with Ingrid who is locked in the same cell. She finds out the extremist has been arrested in three states and only escaped prison by having a good lawyer.

At the golf course, Steve's father, Rush, is complaining bitterly that they may be scratched from competition because Brandon and Jim Walsh went to help Brenda. An official approaches Rush Sanders and tells him he is in luck because some other pairs didn't show up. They've teamed Rush and Steve against an excellent golfer and baseball player, Barry Larsen. Rush is not pleased about this, fearing he could lose the match.

Brandon, Kelly, Dylan and Cindy are waiting in the courtroom gallery for Brenda to appear before the judge. Jim joins them, having completed the bailposting procedure. He advises them that the lab was doing government research and this could mean a federal offense.

In a court holding area, one of the activists, Jonathan Farrino, accuses Brenda of tipping off the FBI. He'd been against them using Brenda at the beginning. Before the judge, Brenda testifies "not guilty" to the charges, but the bail is held at $50,000. She is released and told to appear in three weeks.

David and Donna discuss the startling result of the simple act of picking up a stray dog on the street. At home, Brenda and Jim have a serious father/daughter discussion about her behavior. Cindy joins in by saying that it is fine to have an opinion about things and express her feelings vocally and quite another to be a part of a criminal action.

Later upstairs, Brenda confesses to Brandon that she is frightened. He tries to console her by saying their father has hired a top lawyer.

Josh Richland drops by to see Brandon. He says he has a deadline to meet on the story and he has a few quick questions. He angers Brandon by asking about the relationship with Lucinda Nicholson and using Kelly as a cover up for his illicit affair. Richland then backs off and suggests that if Brandon would back him for student body president next term, he'll drop the whole article on his romantic entanglements. Brandon explodes, saying he would never back him for president and what's more, if he prints these libelous accusations, he could be in for a lot of trouble.

The golf match is not going well for Rush and he is venting his frustration on Steve. Rush takes a new golf ball from his pocket and hits an incredible drive down the course. Everyone is amazed.

Brandon goes to see Lucinda and accuses her of telling Richland about their relationship, out of spite. Brandon says that now that she has her grant for funding her documentary, she apparently doesn't care if she hurts other people.

Donna drives Brenda to Jesse's apartment so she can explain and apologize to Andrea about the lab destruction. Brenda explains to a stunned Andrea, that she was one of the extremists. Jesse steps into the discussion and advises Andrea not to get involved or she could find herself subpoenaed to testify. He suggests Donna stay away from Brenda too. Donna drives Brenda home and offers to be available if she's needed, but not to discuss the animal rights issue. From across the street, activist Jon Farrino watches as Brenda walks away.

Jim Walsh is just getting off the phone with Brenda's lawyer. He is very depressed about all the trouble and tells Brandon he wishes his twin sister were like him. Jim says how proud he is of Brandon. Brandon then shocks his father by confessing to the whole sordid relationship with Lucinda and how the entire expose will be printed in a "The Condor" tomorrow, by Josh Richland. Brandon says his bright future in college politics has come to an end.

On the golf course, as they approach the eighteenth hole, Rush says he has to get another ball from his bag and when he rejects the one Steve offers, his son gets suspicious. Rush confesses the balls he uses have been treated in a way that makes them drive a greater distance. Steve is disgusted that his father is cheating.

Kelly and Dylan are relaxing in each other's arms on the couch when the doorbell rings. Dylan crosses to the door and finds Brenda there. Before he opens the door, Kelly cautions Dylan about Jesse's warning to stay away from Brenda or risk being subpoenaed. Dylan scoffs at the idea. Soon Kelly begins to lose patience with Brenda and says she's tired of stepping aside every time she gets in trouble and calls Dylan for help. Dylan gets angry with Kelly for bringing this into the conversation. Brenda is hurt and rushes for the door. Kelly is left in the room all alone, frustrated and near tears.

At the final green, Rush has just sunk his ball. Some onlookers cheer Rush and they all turn to watch Steve sink his ball and win the match, but Steve has another idea. He purposely misses the hole so his father will lose the match. He turns to his father saying "he won't allow a cheater to win" and either his father plays fair, or they will lose. Rush realizes he has no choice but to go along with the idea.

Brenda arrives home to a message that the FBI wants to see her. At the golf tournament, Rush has come to the realization that his son is a much finer person than he'd ever suspected. He tells Steve he was tempted to cheat because winning is so important to him. Steve sinks his ball and they win the tournament.

At FBI offices, Brenda and Jim are joined by their attorney. Brenda is stunned when Jon Farrino walks into the room and is revealed as an undercover agent. He tells them that all they want from Brenda is an affidavit that will corroborate the testimony from Ingrid Lake. Brenda will just sign some papers, but will not have to appear in court.

At the beach apartment, David and Andrea arrive carrying a small box. They present a small, very lively puppy to Donna. She is overjoyed and Andrea assures her that the dog is healthy. They decide to call it Rocky II.

On campus, The Condor newspaper is out. Brandon is puzzled as he looks over Richland's article. It's not a hatchet job, but rather filled with praise for Brandon. Richland later tells Brandon that he passed the test when he refused to allow himself to be blackmailed.

At the Peach Pit, the group is wandering in. Donna is there to show off Rocky II. Dylan and Kelly have patched up their differences. Brenda comes by to tell them the charges against her were dropped but she doesn't linger, feeling uncomfortable with Dylan and Kelly. Kelly feeling rather badly about what she said to Brenda earlier, follows her outside. They both apologize and admit their petty jealousies should not stop them from still being friends.

'TIME HAS COME TODAY'

At the Peach Pit, Steve tries to talk David into having a talk with Nat about updating the recordings on the juke box - to a selection a little more recent than the sixties. Across the room, Donna is talking enthusiastically about the planned ski trip to Mammoth for Spring Break. Dylan and Kelly are going, but Brenda says her parents want her to stay close to home for a while.

Arriving home, Brenda finds that Donna has called to see if there's anything she can do that will persuade the Walshes to let Brenda go to Mammoth. Jim and Cindy are surprised that Brenda has told her friends she's "grounded" for the next few weeks. In her room, Brandon confronts his sister about her avoiding her friends. He says that he's getting tired of making excuses for her.

Next morning, Cindy invites Brenda to go to a swap meet, but Brenda begs off saying she's going jogging and then catch up on some reading. Later Brenda finds a long neglected personal diary and begins to read it. It reflects the emotions and thoughts of 25 years ago and a girl named Wendy Edwards, who once lived in the Walsh house Brenda flashes back to this different era.

Brandon telephones Brenda to see if she's all right and her daydreams abruptly disappear. He tells her they are still on the road up to Mammoth, and if she has changed her mind, his car keys are in the kitchen. She says she'll stick with her reading.

Brenda drops by the Peach Pit. She tells Nat she read about his being an actor a long time ago and playing a part in a Glenn Ford movie. She tells Andrea and Nat, this girls Wendy used to hang out at the "Pit" when it was just a lunch counter. She went to Cal University too, Brenda adds, as she studies the 1950's photos in frames on the wall. She decides to check the yearbooks at the campus library to see if Wendy Edwards is pictured in the publication. Even with the librarian's help, she's unable to find the yearbooks. As she reads in the diary, Brenda flashes back to a college campus hippie rally, with Dylan, Kelly, Steve and Brandon there as 1960's "rebels."

The library is closing and Brenda is brought back to the present day. As she crosses campus, Brenda begins to remember another chapter of Wendy's diary describing how a girlfriend took LSD and flipped out. Wendy's friends were into drugs of various kinds.

Wendy tells about being in a guy's van and making out in back, or almost. Brenda reads the lines that reflect Wendy's confused emotional state and realizes it is a reflection of her own insecurities.

Wendy visits her friends at the old Peach Pit and describes in her diary how she must stop trying to live up to everyone's expectations and stop being so hard on herself - Brenda can identify with this and is deeply moved. After a rock concert, Wendy tells about Donna's counterpart, "Maryanne," who returns to her boyfriend's room on campus and finds it's after curfew. Maryanne stays the night, loses her virginity and loses the respect of Seth (David), she adds. Brenda ponders these statements and feels she can relate to everything Wendy has written in her diary.

Wendy describes a campus demonstration against the Vietnam War. She expresses the feeling that what the student say and do at this rally may forever change the politics of America and even the world. But, she also wonders if all the students are sincere, or just want to be filmed for the evening news. Mixed in with the peaceful demonstrators are the usual extremists who want to tear down and destroy without offering any constructive, concrete corrective measure. Brenda understands what Wendy is referring to and can see the parallel to her own confusion over animal rights.

Over breakfast, Brenda tells her parents how Wendy had received a letter from her brother in Vietnam and how demoralized he was over the fighting there. Jim tells his daughter the diary brings back a lot of forgotten feelings from the past for him, too.

The college librarian is still trying to locate the yearbook of 1969 for Brenda, so she can see Wendy's photograph. At home, Wendy tells of how Peter (Dylan), came by to say goodbye and to say he was driving to Woodstock for the music festival with Michelle (Kelly). He invites Wendy to come along, but she declines saying three would be a crowd. Peter adds that he's going onto Canada to dodge the draft.

Brenda finds Wendy living in a suburban residential area. They discuss the characters in the diary and Brenda meets her teenage children. Wendy shows Brenda the yearbook with photographs of her friends. The people don't resemble the way Brenda had pictured them. They are not at all like Brandon, Kelly, Dylan, Donna and David.

Wendy tells her Michelle (Kelly) died of an overdose of heroin and her brother, Will (Brandon) never came back from Vietnam. The others she's lost track of, she adds.

At the Walsh home, Brenda is joined by Brandon, Donna, Kelly, David and Dylan, who just returned from Spring break vacation. They found no snow at Mammoth for skiing so they went to Palm Springs instead. Brenda stares at her friends, now seeing them in a whole new light.

"BLIND SPOT"

David is playing piano as Donna listens and studies. He goofs up several times in the complicated classical passages. He gets disgusted with himself. Donna says he is great and reminds him he almost had a big time recording contract. David scoffs and says to be a pop music star, you only have to learn three chords and add a back beat. With a good publicist, you can become a music legend.

While driving to Dodger Stadium for the first game of the season, Brandon has car trouble and Steve becomes frantic. They'll miss the opening game, he complains. Down the block they spot a coffee shop and go there to call the Auto Club.

Brandon goes to place a phone call as Steve settles into a booth. As he glances around the room, he realizes all the patrons are young men and the wall decorations are of half naked males. Steve begins to feel very uncomfortable as he realizes he and Brandon are in a gay hangout. Suddenly, Steve is jolted by the sight of his fraternity President, Mike Ryan, sitting with several men. Steve looks away quickly, trying to avoid being seen.

Brandon returns to the booth and Steve tells him they better wait outside for the tow truck. He grabs Brandon with an arm around the shoulder and whispers that the coffee house is a "gay joint." At that moment, Mike Ryan glances over and recognizes Steve with his arm around Brandon. Mike tells his friends he is surprised. He thought he was the only gay man in their fraternity. He watches Steve hurry out the door, a knowing smile on his face.

Kelly, Donna, Andrea and Dylan are having burgers at the Peach Pit and discussing a charity fundraising project that the Alphas are sponsoring. They want to publish a calendar/ cletebook which includes male pin-up photos of campus hunks. So far, most of the guys have turned them down, including Dylan. When Steve and Brandon return from the ballgame, Kelly tries to persuade Brandon to pose. But, when he hears he has to be photographed in his underwear, he declines, saying it wouldn't be proper for a member of the Task Force Team for Better Education. Steve quickly volunteers, but Kelly says they already have two guys lined up from KEG fraternity. She adds, however, she'll put him on the "B" list in case anybody drops out. Brandon reconsiders and says he'll pose provided it's done in good taste.

David goes to his first piano lesson with a graduate student named Holly Marlow. She has just finished rehearsing a classical selection she will be performing on the weekend. David is tremendously impressed with her expertise and applauds enthusiastically. Only when she crosses to greet him does he realize she's blind. David sits at the piano and does a run through of the Mozart sonata he has been working on. He goofs up again, but Holly places her hands on his and demonstrates the correct crossover. David tries again and is amazed at how her instruction has helped him.

At the KEG fraternity house, Steve drops in and has his first face-to-face encounter with Ryan since he was spotted at the gay coffee house. Steve is very cool toward Ryan, and when the fraternity president says that he is pleased to find out he's not the only gay guy in the fraternity, Steve growls back in angry frustration that neither he nor Brandon are gay and they only stopped at the gay coffee house to telephone for an Auto Club tow truck.

At home, Brandon is still wondering if posing in his underwear for the charity fundraising calendar is right for him.

Steve comes by, needing to talk over this whole "Ryan being gay" news that is weighing heavily on him. He tells Brandon how Ryan thinks he and Brandon are gay too, because of being seen in a gay hangout. Steve is torn between keeping Ryan's secret to himself or telling the others in the fraternity. Brandon reminds Steve that it was Ryan who defended his right for a fair hearing, when the others wanted him kicked out of the fraternity.

Donna and Kelly drive around the block several times while waiting for David to finish his lesson with Holly. Donna says she doesn't want to interrupt. At last, they go into their apartment and find Holly guiding David's hands over another difficult musical passage. Donna feels a little pang of jealousy as she watches them standing so close. As David finishes, they introduce themselves to Holly and she invites them to come to her concert tonight. Donna reminds Kelly that they both have to help set up the photo session for tomorrow.

Brandon runs into Mike Ryan at the gym. Mike asks if Steve is still steamed because he's on the "B" list for the calendar photos. Brandon says Steve has a lot on his mind these days. Mike asks if Steve told Brandon that his fraternity president was gay. Brandon admits he did, but says he's sure that no one else will be told.

Donna spots the black basketball star, D'Shawn, crossing campus. She asks him to pose for their "hunks" calendar. He says, , yes" provided she'll go out on a date with him tonight. Donna hesitates, then after thinking for a few moments, says she will date him tonight.

In the dressing room set up at Alpha sorority house, the selected male models, now including Steve, try on the boxer shorts they will be wearing for the photos. The usual kidding and horseplay goes on, but Steve reacts with extreme sensitivity to remarks about his outfit. Suddenly, in a burst of anger, Steve blurts out the "secret" that Mike Ryan is gay. Several members of the fraternity head for the door saying this whole "posing thing" is not for real men. Outside, Artie and Glenn, two members, bump into Mike and Brandon. They express their disgust with Mike at discovering his lifestyle and dash off down the street. Mike stands dumbfounded and angry that Steve has not kept his promise.

At the Peach Pit, Steve, Brandon, Kelly and Donna discuss the blowup and walk out by some of the men who promised to pose for the calendar. Steve is feeling depressed that he overreacted and perhaps caused the whole fund raiser plan to fall through. Kelly can't understand why he's so homophobic. Steve counters that he isn't and it was just a slip up. He didn't mean to hurt Mike Ryan by saying he is gay.

D'Shawn arrives at the apartment to pick up Donna for their date and David answers the door. David assumes they're on the way to the photo session, but D'Shawn answers that he and Donna have a date. Donna breezes in, dressed beautifully. Thanking D'Shawn for the bouquet of flowers, she asks David to put them in some water and tells him to enjoy his concert. David stands with a bewildered expression as he watches them leave. Outside we see Donna and D'Shawn laugh over the success of their trick on David and realize Donna arranged this date to make David jealous.

At the concert hall, David goes back stage to say hello to Holly. He finds her rather nervous but reassures her by repeating some of the lessons she's taught him. They both enjoy a warm chuckle together.

At the fraternity house, Steve finds the situation has worsened for Mike Ryan. Not only is he being ridiculed by some of the members, but they are calling a meeting to force him out of the fraternity. Steve finds Mike packing his bags, saying that he is leaving and "going where he doesn't have to apologize for what he is."

At the Peach Pit, David and Holly have peach pie and coffee. David is tending to be overly considerate of Holly because she is blind. Holly tells him that she does not expect to be treated like a princess who needs to be rescued. She asks that he just treat her as he would anyone else. She reminds him, if he really loves Donna, he should save his sweet talk for her.

On their date, D'Shawn lays some wise advice on Donna about her jealousy of David's piano teacher. He tells her not to confuse David's love for her and his admiration for the piano skills of Holly. If she's not careful, she could lose David.

Still feeling a tremendous guilt, Steve goes to find Mike Ryan. He finds him at the gay coffee shop. Steve tells him he should come back and fight being kicked out of the fraternity, but Mike is not so sure.

At the KEG house, Artie is warning the members of the dangers of not purging themselves of Mike Ryan. They could become the laughing stock of the campus he says and alumni who make big donations to the fraternity would be turned off by such a scandal. Steve demands that Mike Ryan have a chance to speak before a membership vote is taken regarding his ouster. Mike begins hesitantly, not sure that most of the members have not already made up their minds. Mike talks about how various racial groups have faced the same prejudice that he now faces. He asks them to consider how they would feel if he were their real brother and if they would still want to throw him out. The vote is taken and the majority are in favor of not only allowing Mike to stay as a member, but also to retain him as president.

At the Alpha sorority house, the calendar shoot is finally under way. David has shown up to help out and keep an eye on Donna. Dylan is kidding Brandon about his outfit and Kelly is beginning to express concern that Artie and Glenn have not shown up. She and Donna move in on Dylan and David and pressure them into doing the male hunk calendar.

"DIVAS"

Brenda has perused a number of magazine articles in the campus library and made copies of some of them that discuss the career of Director, Roy Randolph.

Outside the library, she talks to Dylan and tells him she is going to audition for the college play, "Cat On A Hot Tin Roof" that's being directed by Roy Randolph. Dylan is on his way into the library to pick up a couple of books for his half-sister, Erica, he says.

Brenda joins Donna, Andrea, and Kelly at the Peach Pit. Andrea complains she's getting too fat during her pregnancy but precedes to order another double-burger and fries. Kelly offers to lend Andrea some of her mother's pregnancy clothes.

In a nearby booth, Erica sits with her mother's boyfriend, Kevin. Suzanne, her mother, is concerned that Erica doesn't seem to like Kevin. Erica would rather her mother have a relationship with Dylan.

At the counter, Brandon has been studying, when he is joined by Clare, the daughter of Chancellor Arnold. She begins to make a play for Brandon. He feels uncomfortable about this, fearing it might jeopardize his position on the Chancellor's Task Force for Better Education and the upcoming trip to Washington, D.C. Clare is not easily discouraged, however, and announces that she just turned eighteen and is free to date whomever she likes. Brandon leaves, but she follows him outside to the parking lot, making suggestions as to how they might pass the afternoon together. Dylan drives up as Clare is leaving. Dylan's advise to Brandon is to just tell Clare "no." Brandon says it's not that easy.

Inside the Peach Pit, Dylan meets Suzanne's boyfriend, Kevin. At the Walsh's house, Jim and Cindy are planning to go to Palm Springs for the weekend. Brenda announces she's going to audition for a play. Cindy reminds her she will be house sitting for the Levins over the weekend.

At the college dorm, Steve tells Brandon he has decided to devote more of his time to his college work from now on and stop playing around. They part and as Steve moves off down the hallway, he hears a girl's scream and shouting. He knocks at the door and a girls answers. Her name is Laura Kingman. Steve asks if she is all right. Laura says she was rehearsing for a school play, the role of Maggie in "Cat On

A Hot Tin Roof." Steve and Laura recognize each other from the "date rape seminar" held on campus last Fall. Steve tells Laura that his mother played that role in the play once and that he saw the production dozens of times. He offers to help her with the role if she would like. Laura is delighted.

At the Condor's Nest Cafe on campus, Brenda bumps into the play Director, Roy Randolph. Brenda recovers from her initial embarrassment at almost spilling her coffee on him and introduces herself, adding that she's auditioning for his play. Roy seems impressed with Brenda's charm.

At Dylan's house, Suzanne discusses Kevin and Erica with Dylan. She is afraid that Erica's attitude might frighten away this new man in her life and wonders if Dylan would have a talk with Erica about the situation. Dylan agrees to do it.

Steve cancels plans to study with Brandon, saying he is helping Laura Kingman with her play rehearsals. Brandon is surprised to hear Steve is involved with the girl who once accused him of date rape. Steve assures Brandon that this is strictly platonic.

At Chancellor Arnold's office, Brandon is asked to do a critique on an article that has been written about the Task Force project. Arnold requests that he hand in the paperwork first thing on Monday. Clare pops in during their discussions perhaps not by accident, and seizes the opportunity to flirt with Brandon.

While Kelly is helping Brenda run her lines for the role of Maggie in the play, they discuss the other parts that are available. Brenda encourages Kelly to audition for the role of Mae. They agree it would be fun to work in the play together. When Dylan comes by to pick up Kelly, she asks his opinion. He says he's sure she can do anything she sets her mind on.

Steve rehearses lines with Laura, but finds she seems to be becoming more than casually interested in him.

As promised, Kelly and Donna drop by Andrea and Jesse's apartment to bring some of Jackie's pregnancy outfits. Andrea is excited until she tries them on and finds she's too fat to wear them.

A large crowd of students have gathered at the campus theater for the play auditions. Brenda and Kelly discuss the director and the fact that he always develops a relationship with the leading actress.

With his parents gone to Palm Springs for the weekend, Brandon has settled down to do the critique for Chancellor Arnold. The doorbell rings and Clare arrives carrying her hi-fi boom box and overnight bag. She announces she is here to spend the night with him. Brandon is highly annoyed. Pretty and sexy as she is, he resents being coerced into a relationship he had not planned on. Clare is not discouraged and says she'll just sit downstairs and listen to music until Brandon finishes work on the critique. She says her father is out of town and she was staying with friends, but they're out for the evening. Brandon answers that he's going to be busy all night, probably. He's tempted, but his mind tells him this is the wrong time and place; and, maybe the wrong girl.

Brenda finally gets her chance to audition and Roy seems to like her. Dylan has a talk with Erica about her rudeness toward Kevin. She says it isn't that she dislikes Kevin, but she's worried that he and her mother will get married and they'll want to move away and she won't see Dylan regularly.

Dylan joins Jesse, Donna and Andrea in a booth at the Peach Pit. Andrea is still depressed about her weight gain. Jesse presents her with a large denim maternity dress. She's delighted. Brandon telephones Steve to ask his help in getting Clare out of his way. Steve can't believe that Brandon feels he has a problem.

Clare has now come upstairs and changed into a very sexy teddy outfit. Brenda stops by the house for a few minutes to tell Brandon about her audition and then she leaves to house-sit at the Levins.

Back upstairs, Brandon finds Clare has handcuffed herself to Brandon's bed and hidden the key. Getting more angry by the minute, Brandon turns off the light and slams the door, leaving Clare all alone in the dark.

Kelly finally gets called in for her audition. She is unsure and apologetic for her lack of experience in the theater. Roy is intrigued and insists she audition.

At the beach apartment, Donna and David argue about the proper way to housebreak their dog. Kelly calls Brenda to tell her she finally got in to the audition. She does not tell Brenda that Roy insisted that she read for the leading role of "Maggie."

Jesse gives in to Andrea's worried state of mind and takes her to the doctor for another ultrasound test. Dr. Haller assures her all the tests are just fine, but Andrea still insists she feels something is wrong with the pregnancy.

Kevin and Suzanne thank Dylan for having the talk with Erica. Her attitude has changed remarkably. Kevin and Dylan find they have a mutual interest in surfing and Kevin insists on showing Dylan a board he had designed.

Heart pounding, Brenda rushes to the theater lobby to check the bulletin board regarding the auditions. Laura calls to her to say they both have call backs for the lead role of "Maggie." Also, she adds Kelly is a hot contender for the same leading role. Brenda is stunned. She can't believe Kelly is up for the lead too. Laura tells Brenda that Kelly also went out for a coffee with Roy, after the readings. Brenda is hurt and angry.

"ACTING OUT"

At the beach apartment, Donna and David have surprised Kelly with congratulatory gifts for getting a "callback," for the play auditions. Brenda arrives at the apartment to confront Kelly about deciding to compete with her for the leading role audition. Brenda is hurt that Kelly made no mention of it to her on the phone. Kelly explains that Roy Randolph, the director, talked her into trying out for the leading role. They exchange accusations of deceit and Brenda storms off in anger.

Steve is trying to boost Laura's self-confidence by telling her to draw on her own life experiences in portraying the role in the play. Laura gives him a kiss just as Brandon opens the door. Later, Brandon questions Steve about the involvement with Laura, reminding him that this is the girl who once accused him of "date rape." As they talk, Chancellor Arnold stops to speak to Brandon. He says he is delighted that Brandon is escorting his daughter, Clare, to her senior prom. This all comes as a complete surprise to Brandon.

As Jesse is packing for a trip to San Francisco, he hands Andrea a little gift. It is an exercise video for expectant mothers. She thanks him with a warm kiss, trying to be cheerful about her pregnancy and that everything is going to be all right.

At the Peach Pit, Kelly tells Dylan of her falling out with Brenda over the auditions. Dylan sides with Brenda, saying Kelly should have told her immediately that she was going to compete for the lead role. Kelly pouts, saying that he always sides with Brenda.

As Brandon and Steve enter the Pit, Clare bounces over to put her arms around Brandon. Steve turns away and leaves the two alone. Brandon confronts Clare about not telling him first about the school prom date.

In a corner booth across the room, Steve asks Kelly and Dylan about this girl, Clare. Kelly says they were roommates at the weekend retreat that she and Brandon attended. Steve jokes that Kelly and Brenda might as well forget the audition, because his protegee, Laura, is a cinch to win the role.

Laura tells Brenda, Steve is worried that she is angry with him for giving coaching to a competing actress. Brenda shrugs that it doesn't bother her nearly as much as Kelly's sneak attack.

Brenda auditions first and receives a high compliment from Roy on her performance. Roy turns to Kelly next and quizzes her on her background for the character of Maggie. Kelly says she has lived with a mother on drugs and a boyfriend in AA. She feels she is "Maggie." After her audition, Randolph announces that Kelly is a real actress. Brenda murmurs that Kelly is also good at pretending to be a friend.

Over breakfast, Brenda bemoans the fact that it looks like Kelly is going to get the leading role. Brandon laughingly suggests that his sister sleep with the director, in the classic theatrical tradition.

At the beach, Dylan is playing games with Erica when Kelly arrives. She waves to Kevin and Suzanne on a nearby blanket. Kevin and Dylan walk up the beach to get a first hand look at a sewage spill while Kelly elects to talk with Erica and Suzanne.

At the Condor's Nest on campus, Brenda tells Donna she'll have to miss their weekly get-together at the Peach Pit. She has to rehearse. Donna suspects it's more a case of Brenda wanting to avoid seeing Kelly.

When Dylan and Kevin, at last, return from their walk, Kelly tries to talk to Dylan about her fight with Brenda, but Dylan says he really doesn't want to hear about it. Kelly is frustrated and, in anger, heads off up the beach.

Brandon arrives at Clare's house to pick her up for the prom. He's brought her a wrist corsage and looks very elegant in jacket and tie. Chancellor Arnold takes some photographs of Brandon and Clare and beams with pleasure at his daughter's new relationship, hoping it will have a beneficial effect on his somewhat wild daughter.

Donna and Andrea meet at the Pit. Kelly and Brenda don't show up. Donna comments about how they are all changing. A year ago, she and Andrea were the only virgins in their group and now Andrea is pregnant. Andrea misinterprets the remarks and feels Donna is implying that she became a trollop, sleeping around until she got pregnant. Donna tries to apologize, realizing she's touched on a sensitive issue with Andrea. Andrea excuses herself saying she's feeling a bit tired.

A raucous party is in progress at a hotel suite. Clare and Brandon join the other select group of students for the post-prom gathering. Some of the guests have already had too much to drink and Brandon feels very out of place.

Clare gets involved in some wild antics on the balcony, calling and waving down to some young, ruff types in the street below. The men decide to come up and join the party and a fight breaks out as Brandon defends Clare from one overly affectionate guy.

Donna stops by Andrea's apartment to apologize for her remarks at the Peach Pit. Andrea is glad to see her saying she too wants to explain that, at this point in her pregnancy, she says things that she doesn't really mean. During their conversation, Andrea suddenly has labor pains. Donna drives her to the hospital. It proves to be false labor, but she is cautioned to take things easy.

At the party, hotel security rush in to break up the fight. Brandon tells the manager they'll take up a collection to pay for the damages.

Steve gives Laura a few last minute instructions about her performance. He also lets her wear a rather sexy dressing gown that his mother wore, when she performed in the play.

Clare applies some antiseptic to Brandon's bruised face. She still wants to call her father about paying for the damages, but Brandon feels it's best not to involve the Chancellor. Over Clare's protests, Brandon insist he take her home and leave the hotel bedroom unused.

Kelly stops by the Walsh house to talk to Brenda. It is late and everyone has gone to bed, but Kelly says she must talk'about their feuding. Kelly says she has decided to drop out of the competition for the acting role. Brenda asks her why she put herself through this to begin with. Kelly explains that from their first meeting, they have always been competing over things, but maybe it is time to be real friends.

At Andrea's apartment, Donna and David have bought groceries and are preparing breakfast for her. Andrea is reclined on the sofa, following the doctor's orders about staying off her feet. Jesse arrives, having received a phone call from Donna. Andrea is overjoyed to see him.

Kelly is at the theater with Brenda to lend moral support for the final reading. Roy Randolph stops to talk to Kelly as Brenda and Laura follow his assistant backstage. He is dumbfounded when Kelly tells him she has dropped out of the competition. He says she could have gone on to great things in the theater.

Steve and Brandon slip into the audience to watch Brenda's audition. Laura presents her monologue first and it is received enthusiastically by Randolph and his assistant. Brenda comes on stage next, but is nervous and flubs a line of dialogue. She stops and asks if she can start over, then turns and walks off stage.

Brandon races to catch up with Brenda to try to console her, but she wants to be alone in her misery for the present. Clare crosses to Brandon but he is in no mood to play games with her. He tells her to stay away from him.

Kelly goes to see Dylan to tell him she has dropped out of the play. -She nrenfions that Brenda goofed up her final audition and will probably drop out of the play, too. Dylan reminds Kelly that Brenda is like a cat. Somehow, she always manages to land on her feet.

Brenda approaches the house where Roy Randolph is staying. She says she knows he doesn't believe in second chances, but she is sure she is right for the role of "Maggie." He studies her for a moment, then motions her inside for a private audition.

"TRUTH AND CONSEQUENCES"

At the Peach Pit, Suzanne is rushing back and forth serving food to anxious customers. Young Erica is quizzing her about amounts and kinds of food served at the restaurant, for a school paper she's writing.

In a booth, Kelly and Donna discuss the possibility of holding their "girl talk" meeting at Andrea's, since she is supposed to stay off her feet as much as possible.

Suzanne suggests to Erica that she write her school report on Kevin's environmental lab, but Erica is not very receptive to the idea until Dylan says he'd like to visit Kevin's lab.

Brandon drops by dressed in jacket and tie for a meeting with the Chancellor.

Brenda bounces in with the news that she has won the role of "Maggie" in the school play. Everybody is delighted for her.

On campus, Laura Kingman is expressing her disappointment to Steve. Steve finds the news puzzling since he had coached Laura for the role. Laura hints that Brenda got the leading role because she slept with the director, Roy Randolph. Steve defends Brenda, saying she wouldn't do a thing like that, but later, Steve begins to wonder if maybe Laura is right.

Andrea gets a phone call from Donna telling of their plans to meet at Andrea's apartment. Andrea is delighted to have company, but Jesse cautions her to keep off her feet and take her medication like the doctor ordered.

Brandon is told by Chancellor Arnold that his paper on the status of public education is to be part of the keynote address at the conference in Washington, and this week he is invited to UC Berkeley to help plan the final strategy for the conference. Arnold says he's proud of Brandon and pleased that he is dating his daughter. She is a "sweet" girl who needs guidance and understanding he adds. Brandon restrains himself from telling Arnold exactly what his daughter is like.

The cast of the play are gathered with Randolph on stage. He tells them he is a strict disciplinarian and will not tolerate lateness or lack of preparedness. Laura has been assigned as understudy for Brenda. Though still hurt by the rejection, Laura tries to make the best of the situation.

Steve approaches Kelly and Donna on the beach. Still angry about Laura's missing out on the leading role, he hints to the girls that perhaps Brenda went a bit beyond the call of duty in order to get the top role. Kelly rejects that idea, but she too begins to wonder about what Brenda did. Kelly remembers that Randolph did sort of "come on to her, too," she adds. They all agree that Brenda was very intent on being in the play. Donna says Brenda would never do anything like that to get the role.

Kelly continues the discussion with Dylan later, and he also doubts that Brenda is guilty of sleeping with the director. In the midst of this argument, Kevin, Suzanne and Erica arrive. Suzanne announces she and Kevin are getting married. Erica chimes in that she is going to be the maid of honor and they've brought some pastries to celebrate. As they move off to the kitchen, Dylan reprimands Kelly for her comment that it's been a whirlwind romance." He feels she's being negative about the success of their marriage.

Steve drops by Laura's room at the dormitory. He finds her very depressed over not getting the leading role. She complains that she didn't even get to read the play with the cast. As an understudy to Brenda, she could only sit and listen. Laura takes a phone call from her mother on the hall phone. Her mother criticizes her for not trying harder and leaves Laura almost in tears. Before returning to Steve, however, she puts on a happy face and is encouraged when he gives her a warm hug.

At home, Brandon gets a surprise visit from Clare, announcing that she is flying up to Berkeley with him so she can check out the campus and he can help her decide if the university is right for her. Brandon is not please with this development and feels he must have a man-to-man talk with Chancellor Arnold about his daughter.

A phone message comes for Brenda saying rehearsals have been changed from one p.m. to four. Cindy writes down the message. We see Laura hang up the dormitory phone. A smile crosses her lips as she has taken the first step in her campaign to sabotage Brenda's acting role.

On campus, Brandon and Steve talk about the possibility that Brenda got the play lead by way of the "casting couch." Brandon tells Steve she would never do that, but as he walks away, he too begins to wonder.

At his laboratory, Kevin shows Dylan and Erica a new development which he feels could clean up coastal waters and make them safe again. The only problem is a lack of financing to bring the material out of the lab and into the marketplace, Kevin adds.

The girls meet at Andrea's apartment as planned, but Brenda does not show up. Kelly mentions the vicious rumor that's going around about Brenda and the play director. When Brenda arrives, saying the rehearsals have been shifted three hours later, the girls confront her with the vicious rumor. Brenda is stunned that they would believe this gossip and then with biting sarcasm says "It's all true, we had sex all over his apartment and then out in the street because I have no talent and wanted the role desperately." Brenda storms out in anger.

At the Condor's Nest, Brenda is comforted by Dylan who says he knows her too well to believe such rumors.

Brenda arrives at rehearsal at the time the message indicated only to find that it is over, and Roy Randolph is very upset that she was a no-show.

Laura is in a happy mood and tells Steve, because Brenda was absent, she got to rehearse the whole play. Steve asks about Brenda and before Laura can answer, Brenda comes up to them saying that she got a mysterious phone message saying the rehearsal time was change. She looks Laura squarely in the eye and asks if she knows who might have done thAt. Steve sides with Laura as a strong argument develops. Steve pulls Laura away as he tells Brenda he is her brother's friend but not her's, anymore.

Back at Laura's room, she proceeds to talk Steve into a new strategy for making Brenda miss rehearsals. Steve begins to have some concern about Laura's viciousness.

Andrea is on the phone when Jesse comes home. He is angry that she is up on her feet again. She had to call her professor because she is concerned about keeping up with her classwork, she says. Andrea is obviously under a great deal of stress. Jesse hands her a gift he has bought her. It is a portable telephone.

Brandon joins Kelly, Donna and Steve at the Condor's Nest. Steve apologizes first. He says he realizes that Laura is a psycho and apparently will stop at nothing to knock Brenda out of the role. The girls say they'll talk to Brenda while Steve tries to straighten out Laura.

Brenda pays a visit to Roy Randolph at home to explain the missed rehearsal. He says that his assistant has already explained and for her not to worry. He is concerned, however, that if Brenda wants to be in show business, she'll have to develop a tougher skin and learn to let backstage intrigue roll off her back.

Brandon stops in to see Chancellor Arnold and to discuss the problem of Clare. Arnold doesn't seem to take Brandon's comments too seriously. Later when Brandon tells Clare he spoke with her father about the Berkeley trip, she gets angry and tells him he may have just jeopardized his trip to Washington and the conference.

At rehearsal, Randolph confronts Laura about her intrigues and accusations. He fires her from the play cast. Outside, Steve catches up to a distressed Laura. He tells her she needs to consult a professional analyst. Laura accuses him of turning against her and dashes away. Brenda reluctantly meets with the girls at the Peach Pit. They express their apologies and Brenda admits that she probably overreacted too.

Kevin joins Suzanne, Dylan and ~rica. He tells them he quit his job saying, he couldn't continue to work for a company that only pretended to have faith in a campaign to clean up the environment.

Brandon telephones Steve saying he heard about Laura's getting fired. Steve tells him that she is taking it very hard and he was unable to convince her to get professional help. After the phone call, Steve goes to Laura's room and finds a note on her pillow, "To Whom It May Concern."

Steve dashes out as he reads the suicide note. He bumps into Brenda as he enters the theater. High up in the catwalks they see Laura. She's tied a heavy rope around her neck and balances precariously on the narrow walkway. Steve tells her not to do this, but she answers that no one cares about her and her feelings. Brenda says she'll keep Laura talking and Steve should get campus security. Brenda tells Laura that she'll talk to Randolph and persuade him to let her do the role of "Maggie," for a few performances. Steve has climbed up behind Laura and then as she jumps, he catches her and prevents her falling.

Steve tells Brenda that, by talking to Laura and delaying her jumping, she actually saved her life. Brenda moves out of the door, her hands trembling, her mind in a state of shock. Then tears stream down her face as her body releases the tension.

"VITAL SIGNS"

It's three o'clock in the morning at Andrea and Jesse's apartment. She reacts to the alarm clock and dutifully tosses down her prescription pills. She sees a light on in the living room and finds Jesse busy sanding an old baby crib. Andrea tells him he ought to be studying because they won't need the crib for weeks yet.

At the Walsh house, Cindy comments that the Times Calendar Section has an announcement about the play opening tonight, starring Brenda Walsh. Brandon hurries off to campus to inspect the "task force" handbooks that are due of the press this morning. Cindy says they must be doing something right in raising their children, since one is starring in a play and the other is going to Washington to meet the President.

Dylan and Kelly are awakened by Erica, who says she has to talk to Dylan. She says she overheard her parents say they plan to move to South America and wants Dylan to stop them. When Dylan speaks with Kevin and Suzanne, he finds out that Erica has misunderstood. They discussed a possible move to the "Southwest," probably Arizona, to work with a company there. Erica protests that Arizona is still a long distance away. Kelly passes through the living room as the group talks. She makes an excuse about stopping by to pick up something.

At the beach apartment, Donna and David are not seeing eye to eye on the selection of music tapes for the C.U. Mardi Gras festivities. They finally settle on a band called "Babyface" and Donna says she'll try to book them.

Brandon inspects the newly printed Task Force handbooks in Chancellor Arnold's outer office. The foreword he wrote is there, but upon closer inspection, he finds his name has been omitted from the list of delegates going to Washington. Arnold's secretary says the Chancellor personally did the final proofing of the handbook. She adds that he is on a conference call and cannot be disturbed right now.

At the doctor's office, Andrea is disturbed to receive less than a favorable medical report on her pregnancy. The pills she's taking don't seem to be controlling her preterm labor, Dr. Gordon recommends Andrea be checked into the hospital so she can be monitored constantly and hopefully prevent the baby arriving prematurely.

Brandon stops by the dormitory to help Steve pack up Laura's personal things for shipping to her parents in Fresno. The parents told Steve that Laura had attempted suicide before, he says, and adds that he and Brandon both seem to be attracted to the "11 weird" girls. Brandon mentions that he thinks Clare is responsible for getting him dropped from the group who is going to Washington.

At the theater, Brenda has arrived very early and sits in her dressing room. Roy Randolph drops in and spots a small gift package on her makeup table. Brenda hadn't seen it and now quickly opens the wrapping to reveal a St. Genesis medal. It's from Dylan, and Brenda is very pleased to receive it.

Andrea and Jesse are packing to go to the hospital. She is very nervous and increasingly blames herself for these pregnancy complications. Jesse tries to reassure her by showing her the baby crib that he has now finished painting.

The performances in the play were excellent and Dylan, Cindy, Jim, Erica, Donna and Kelly head backstage to congratulate Brenda. Brandon holds back as he spots Chancellor Arnold. Arnold greets him but then quickly moves off with friends when Brandon mentions the delegates list for the trip to Washington. He tries to make an appointment for the next day to discuss the omission of his name, but again, Arnold turns away. Brandon is now convinced that Clare has done one of her evil deeds and made up some lie to her father.

Andrea is checked into her hospital room and all the medical monitors are in place. Jesse is hesitant to leave but finally realizes he can't really contribute anything by staying. Andrea reminds him that he has a final examination tomorrow and he should be studying.

Backstage everyone crowds around Brenda to extend congratulations. Kelly covers her slight disappointment at not being the center of attraction, but does bristle when Dylan comments about how happy Erica is to, at least, have a big sister, like Brenda. Dylan catches Jim Walsh's ear for a moment to make an appointment with him to discuss possibly investing in Kevin's environmental cleanup plans.

David joins Donna as she tries to book "Babyface" for the C.U. carnival. He waits in the reception area and while there, strikes up a conversation with a trainee named Ariel Hunter. They talk about their favorite music groups and find they like the same ones.

She mentions she has a group of good young musicians who play together. She invites David to drop by and join them if he would like. The idea intrigues David, and he tells Ariel he'll give her a call here at work.

In the campus parking lot, Brandon and Kelly talk. Brandon tells her he's hoping to have a word with Chancellor Arnold, when he arrives. He needs to discuss why his name has been deleted from the conference list. Spotting the Chancellor's car, Brandon dashes over but is disappointed to see his secretary, Peggy. When he asks if he can see Arnold for a few minutes, she says it is not a good time, because he's very busy.

Dylan meets with Jim Walsh at the house to discuss investing some of his inheritance in Kevin's pollution cleanup business. Jim feels he needs to talk with Kevin first. They arrange for a lunch meeting next day. Before Dylan leaves, he talks to Brenda in the kitchen. She is still excited about the review of her performance in the campus newspaper. Brenda gives him a warm kiss of thanks for his gift of the St. Genesis medal. The kiss brings back a flood of emotion to them both and they stand unsure of themselves for a moment.

A very bored Andrea is delighted to see Donna. Brandon is in the corridor talking to Jesse who tells him Andrea will have to pull out of college for the rest of the semester. As Brandon comes in to say "hello" to Andrea, the doctor also stops by. He says he wants to do an amniocentesis test because excessive fluid can cause birth defects. Andrea tries to keep a cheerful outlook.

At a rehearsal studio, David arrives early and is at the keyboard when Ariel comes in with two young musicians named Lenny and P.K. As David moves back to the keyboard, the others join in, beginning to like what they hear.

It's late and Dylan, Kelly, Brandon and Steve are at the Peach Pit. Brenda comes in with Nat, who is still raving about her performance. Everybody applauds as Brenda does a comic bow. Brenda is still cool toward Steve and hurt that he has not been to see her in the play.

Andrea wakes from a dream and Dottie, the nurse, is there checking her chart. Andrea feels very relieved that her dream ended happily with her finding the crying infant and calming its fears. Dottie says that's a good sign.

The jam session ends and the other musicians congratulate David on his skill. Donna and Ariel cross over to them with good news. The group has been signed for their first gig as the opening act for the Babyface band. When Lenny mentions Andy, the drug pusher, as being a friend, David begins to worry that this may be the wrong group for him.

At a buffet brunch at the Walsh house, Jim is impressed with Kevin's ideas and credentials. Dylan announces that he would like to be one of the first investors in this new venture.

Finally, Brandon has had enough of Chancellor Arnold's evasive tactics. He bursts into the Chancellor's office on Sunday as he is doing some work. Brandon confronts him about being left off the list for the conference in Washington, and without giving Arnold a chance to explain, pushes forward full steam. Brandon says he was attracted to Clare but out of respect to Chancellor Arnold, he kept her at arm's length and then she got angry and probably made up some lie about him. Arnold finally gets a word in, explaining a typo error was the reason Brandon was not on the list. He adds that his daughter is spoiled and needed exactly the treatment Brandon gave her. Brandon stands embarrassed but relieved to have heard the truth.

Donna is puzzled that David lacks any enthusiasm about performing with the new music group. David confesses that these guys are into drugs and he doesn't want to be tempted to get hooked again. Donna says she's cancelling their performance, and David can help her with the lights and props for Babyface's appearance. David agrees to help her.

Kelly comments to Dylan that they seem to have nothing in common anymore except a sexual relationship. Dylan says he feels the tension too and is willing to try harder to overcome their misunderstandings. Before he has finished the sentence, however, Kelly's resentment of Brenda, Suzanne and Erica and their influence over. Dylan surfaces again. Dylan has had enough of their bickering. He turns away, jumps in his car and drives off. They both feel that this could be the end of their relationship.

After the final play performance, Steve comes backstage to congratulate Brenda. Brenda forgives him and they exchange a warm hug.

Brandon drops by the hospital to see Andrea and Jesse. He tells them he's off to Washington at the end of the week and wishes them well. Suddenly, Andrea feels a pain and tells Jesse she's afraid the baby may be on the way. Dr. Gordon rushes in and has her transferred to the delivery room.

"MR. WALSH GOES TO WASHINGTON"

On campus, preparations are being made for the charity fund raising Mardi Gras with carnival rides and game booths. Steve and some fraternity brothers are setting up the mud wrestling tank. David and Donna are putting the sound equipment in place for the special music event. Kelly motions to them all that it is time to go to the hospital. Andrea is scheduled for caesarean delivery of her pre-mature baby. At the hospital, Brandon, Brenda and Dylan have already arrived. Steve has brought a stuffed toy kangaroo complete with little one in the pouch. Everyone is surprised to see Brandon here since he was supposed to be flying to Washington for the conference. He says he is taking the "red eye" flight later so he can be here with Andrea and Jesse.

Jesse announces to them that the tiny baby is a girl and both baby and Andrea are all right. He is concerned that the baby is very small; only one-third normal size. He thanks the others for being there but suggests they wait until tomorrow to visit Andrea. He does invite Brandon to see Andrea for a few minutes, however, because he is going out of town. Though weak, Andrea is pleased to see Brandon and wishes him well on his trip to Washington.

Dylan has a meeting with Jim Walsh and Kevin regarding his investment in the new environmental protection company. Several other heavy investors are going over the prospectus with them. Kevin is finding this all a bit baffling and asks to be excused from the meeting for a few minutes. Dylan joins him outside and Kevin says he is having trouble concentrating on all this business negotiation because he is preoccupied with getting married the next day. Dylan tells him to leave, and he'll sit in with the investors for the rest of the meeting.

The-campus carnival is underway with crowds of students enjoying the food and rides. Donna and David make an announcement about the upcoming appearance by Babyface at the grand finale on Sunday. Ariel, the publicist for the agency who handles "Babyface," drops by to check out the lights and stage. Donna is a little disturbed that Ariel and David seem to hit it off so well.

The KEG Roman gladiator booth is a big attraction where challengers sit on a slippery log opposite the champion and try to knock the opponent off the log and into the mud below. It's Steve's turn to challenge all comers, and suddenly, John Sears, his long-time nemesis, steps up from the crowd. Steve tries to defend his title but John Sears is very determined for revenge. Steve falls into the mud and John is the winner.

Brandon is packing for his trip, with Brenda and his parents hovering about, even more excited than he is about meeting the President at the White House.

Brenda meets with Roy Randolph, the play director, to say goodbye. Randolph tells her she has a promising acting career if she works hard. He suggests she consider auditioning at the Royal Academy in London for their summer plays. He offers to telephone and arrange it for her but Brenda wants to think about it for a little bit.

Andrea is awake after a fitful night. Jesse tells her little Hannah has survived her first night but is still in some danger. Andrea says she must go to the neonatal intensive care nursery to see her. Reluctantly, Jesse agrees, concerned, however, that Andrea would suffer even more if the baby doesn't survive.

Brandon arrives in Washington and is reeted by Chancellor Arnold in the hotel lobby. He is not pleased, however, to see that Clare has tagged along with her father, knowing that this will only mean trouble for him from this girl who doesn't know the meaning of the word, "no." To compound Brandon's worries, he is surprised to see that Lucinda Nicholson has also arrived for the conference. Clare, unaware of Brandon's previous relationship with Lucinda, brags to the woman professor about her going to her high school proM with Brandon.

Over breakfast, Jim Walsh expresses concern that Kevin is busy marrying Suzanne tod ay and Dylan is his best man. The final contracts haven't been signed yet. Brenda tells her parents about Roy Randolph's proposal that she go to London and study at the Royal Academy for the summer. She tells them she's saved up most of the money to cover her expenses.

At the campus Mardi Gras, Donna and David discuss how well the fund raiser is going. David rushes back to the stage area for last minute work on the sound system. Ariel, "Babyface's" publicist, finds David. He is flattered by all her personal attention and buys her lunch.

Brenda tells Kelly and Donna about her plans to go to London. Donna seems a little depressed, and she reveals that she just saw David and Ariel together. She expresses worry that because she has held out on sleeping with him, he may find someone else. The girls try to reassure her about David's love.

At the post-wedding brunch, Dylan and Kevin discuss the new business relationship. Kevin hints that maybe they ought to keep the whole deal between the two of them, without any other partners.

After lunch with Chancellor Arnold and Dean Trimble, Brandon says he's going to his room for a little rest. He finds Clare has bribed her way into his room and is in the process of taking a shower. She says his shower is so much better than hers. Brandon asks her to finish up and leave. He wants to rest for a while.

Steve is surprised to find his former girlfriend, Celeste, at the carnival. Steve is stunned to hear that she is now dating John Sears, Steve's ex-fraternity brother.

Brandon is trying to review his speech which he will deliver in less than thirty minutes, but Clare is still hanging around half-dressed and making him very uncomfortable.

Dylan takes Erica to visit the Mardi Gras carnival and treats her to some of the exciting rides. He finds Brenda there with her parents. Jim asks him when Kevin is going to be able to close the business deal, but Dylan says he doesn't know.

Steve and Kelly go to the hospital to see Andrea and the new baby. Along the way, Steve tells Kelly how upset he was to see Celeste dating John Sears. They find Andrea rather tense but nevertheless, glad to see them. Andrea persuades Jesse to go for a walk with Steve while she talks to Kelly. The women go down to see little Hannah in the nursery. In the hospital cafeteria, Jesse confesses to Steve about how worried he really is about the effect on Andrea, if their baby doesn't survive. Steve tries to reassure him about how strong Andrea is in the face of difficulty. Kelly tells Andrea that she and Dylan have broken up and she is going to Washington to join Brandon.

Brandon's speech is well received at the conference. Chancellor Arnold asks if he has seen his daughter, Clare, lately. He wants to make sure she knows the banquet is scheduled for seven. The news that he is again to be stuck with Clare tonight dampens his enthusiasm over the congratulations he is receiving from the crowd. In the elevator, Brandon finds Lucinda is getting off on his floor. It is soon evident that she is intent on having a sexual relationship with Brandon again. When they enter his room, they are greeted by Clare.

Donna finds David and quizzes him as to where he's been all afternoon. He's been around he says but they must have just missed each other.

At the banquet, Brandon finds himself seated between Clare and Lucinda both of whom proceed to place hands on his knees under the table. Brandon struggles to maintain his composure under these stimulating circumstances.

Brenda introduces Erica to a young guy she finds attractive and they go off to dance. This gives Dylan and Brenda a chance to take a ride on the ferris wheel and discuss old times. She tells him about her plans to spend the summer in London.

Finding Steve the target at the KEG booth, John Sears humiliates him in front of Celeste by dumping him in the water several times.
